FREE FLOATING — For years now owners of houseboats like these have anchored just about where they please in Richardson Bay near Sausalito. A plan by the Coast Guard to prohibit houseboats and other vessels from anchoring in the bay's navigable waters last night drew fire from members of Sausalito's waterfront community.

Houseboaters Are Ready To Fight

By PAUL LIBERATORE

The Sausalito waterfront community turned out in full force last night to protest a Coast Guard proposal that would prohibit houseboats and other vessels from anchoring on the navigable waters of Richardson Bay.

About 250 persons, dressed in slickers, seamen's sweaters and stocking caps, crowded into the auditorium at Central School for a public hearing on the plan, which would ban vessels in waters northwest of an imaginary line running from Strawberry Point to about a quarter mile off Sausalito Point.

They accused the county board of supervisors, owners of Clipper Yacht Harbor and the Golden Gate Bridge District of cooking up the proposal to run houseboaters out of waters they have occupied for years.

"If you go into Gate 5 and try to move any boats, then you're going to have a war on your hands," Dean Jennings told Cmdr. Gordon Dickman and Capt. Frederick W. Folger of the Coast Guard's Marine Safety Division n San Francisco.

Dickman told the assemblage that the Coast Guard would take no further action on the proposal until after conferring with officials from the City of Sausalito and Marin County.

Sausalito Mayor Evert H. Heynneman received thunderous applause when he read an official position statement from the city council, calling for the Coast Guard to withdraw or defer action on the proposal to allow the city and local maritime interests sufficient time to plan and implement local solutions to the problem of boater safety in the bay.

The most attacked part of the plan was a proposed "general anchorage area," which ould occupy 800 square feet northwest of the drydocks in Richardson Bay. Boats would be allowed to anchor there only 30 days.

Members of the audience said "the postage-stamp-sized area" could accommodate only 10 boats safely and that "a man wearing hip boots could walk around itn it at low tide."

Many persons accused the Coast Guard of harassment by sending patrol boats down "in the dead of night to shine lights on sleeping families and tell them to move their houseboats."

They said the solution to the problem would be to clearly mark a channel through the area and allow boats to anchor on either side of it.

Dickman agreed that the bay does suffer from a lack of a marked channel, but pointed out that the authority to designate and mark one lies with the U.S. Congress and not with the Coast Guard.

Scores of persons, including houseboaters, yachtsmen and commercial fishermen, took turns denouncing the proposal. Their comments were tape recorded for later consideration by Coast Guard officials.

The proposal has been heartily endorsed by county public works officials and supervisors, one of whom remarked that "this will go a long way toward cleaning up the houseboat mess."

Many in the audience last night commented on the houseboaters' fighting history, referring to the successful battle they waged several years ago against public works officials who tried to tow away illegal houseboats.

"I was born and raised on the waterfront," said a burly Wayne Bishop. "You're gonna have a heavy rumble if you try to move me."

Economy Summit Session Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield today suggested President Nixon summon a White House conference on the economy because "neither Congress nor the administration is doing a damn thing."

The Montana Democrat said those attending such a conference should include the joint congressional leadership, Senate and House experts on the economy, administration advisers, and representatives from labor and industry.

Mansfield offered his suggestion as Nixon met with his top economic advisers to discuss continuing inflation, soaring interest rates, and the general state of the nation's economy.

Nixon called in Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers; Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, presidential counselor Kenneth Rush, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns, and Budget Director Roy Ash.

Mansfield said a broad-based White House conference might determine "whether collectively we can attempt to do something instead of doing nothing."

Asked about Mansfield's suggestion, Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said "it's worth considering."

Mansfield was highly critical of remarks by Stein, that the nation needs "old time religion."

"What's he want us to do, pray?" Mansfield asked.

Mansfield said a minority in Congress had attempted several moves to deal with the economy such as continuing the cost of living council and continuing Phase II of wage-price controls.

"We have tried, but we are not a majority here," Mansfield said.

He said the American people are finding "the administration wanting — and they should."

In advance of today's meetings, a White House spokesman declined to predict whether any new initiatives were in the offing but said Nixon was not actively considering either a tax increase or some new form of economic controls as an immediate step to slow inflationary pressures.

To prepare for the meetings, Nixon spent yesterday evening discussing the international economic situation with Rush and White House chief of staif Alexander M. Haig Jr. during a dinner cruise aboard the presidential yacht Sequoia.

Nixon's lawyer James D. St. Clair gave him a full report on yesterday's Supreme Court activities in which St. Clair and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski presented final arguments in the Watergate tapes dispute.

A White House spokesman said St. Clair reviewed the proceedings with Nixon at a 30-minute meeting, but declined afterward to make any predictions about the court's decision or to say if Nixon would obey an adverse ruling.

Jaworski asked the court to order Nixon to turn over White House tapes and documents related to 64 presidential conversations linked to the Watergate cover-up. Nixon has refused to surrender the subpoenaed material by claiming executive privilege. The high court's decision is bound to be a major factor in the congressional impeachment proceedings.

Nixon also scheduled meetings today with James D. Hodgson, the new U.S. ambassador to Japan, and Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton.

Some White House aides have said Nixon may go to Japan next month, in a follow-up to his journeys to the Middle East and the Soviet Union, and today's meeting with Hodgson was expected to include a broad review of U.S.-Japanese relations.

One Count Against Reinecke Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the three perjury counts against Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke was dismissed today by U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker.

Planners Reject Bond Issue Vote

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night rejected a proposal to place an open-space bond issue on the November ballot.

Commissioners said a November bond issue would be "untimely," and said other open-space acquisition methods deserve study, according to planning secretary Cathy L. Carpenter.

San Anselmo voters in 1973 rejected a $500,000 bond issue for open space, the first defeat for open-space forces in Marin.

Commissioners David Strassman and John Levo were absent. The commission next meets at 8 p.m. July 15 in city hall.

Judge Refuses To Cut Kerner's Time

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge today refused to reduce the three-year prison sentence of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and former State Revenue Director Theodore Isaacs.

U.S. District Judge Robert Taylor ordered Kerner and Isaacs to begin serving their terms at the federal penitentiary in Lexington, Ky., on July 19.

National Forest Fire Is Checked

WALKER (AP) — Fire fighters today controlled a 2,300 acre brush and timber fire in the Toiyabe National Forest near here which destroyed 12 homes and forced evacuation of the almost 400 residents of this Mono County community.

A spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service said the fire was controlled at 6 a.m., but about 300 men remained on the fire line.

Five homes and seven mobile homes were destroyed by the blaze started by an untended camp fire.

Holiday Deaths Show Decrease

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Traffic deaths in California during the Fourth of July Holiday period totalled 64, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The figure was 10 less than in a comparable period in 1972.

The patrol said traffic was reported light to moderate during most of the period beginning last Wednesday evening, but was heavy last night.

30 Per Cent Rain Chance Is Forecast

By PAT ANGLE

There is a 70 per cent chance that summer will return to Marin and Southern Sonoma tomorrow.

Which means it is also possible that the unseasonable storm which has drenched the Bay Area since Sunday night may continue for another day, according to the weatherman.

The record-breaking rain has snarled traffic, contributed to several automobile accidents and sent umbrella sales soaring as clerks and merchants hunted through back rooms for their winter inventory.

The downpour caught roofers working at the Emporium in Northgate by surprise and poured water into the department store's second floor. The area was closed to business yesterday, but has been reopened.

The California Highway Patrol blamed rain-slick pavements for six acidents around Marin yesterday. The crashes resulted in several minor injuries.

Commuter traffic was bumper-to-bumper on southbound Highway 101 again this morning as some bus and ferry riders decided it would be drier to drive. Some commuters reported they arrived at work from 15 to 30 minutes late yesterday because of the storm.

The rain may have damaged the hay crop in Southern Sonoma, but is a boon to the area's berry farmers, according to Sonoma County farm advisers.

Farm Adviser John Smith said the rain will reduce the mite population on the berry bushes and also wash away the dust from the leaves and fruit.

Another positive side effect of the storm is a reduction in the critical fire danger in the two counties which have been plagued with numerous grass fires during the past two weeks.

If the sun shines brightly and the wind comes up tomorrow or the next day, fire danger will probably be back to normal by the weekend, according to Stanley Rowan, assistant county fire chief.

If the weather is foggy after the rain ends, the fire problem will be lessened for about a week, he said.

The storm, spawned by a big low-pressure system off the Northern California coast, dumped 2.68 inches on Throckmorton Ridge near Mill Valley and 2.60 inches at Kent Lake near the San Geronimo Valley in the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today. A total of 1.75 inches was reported in Larkspur and 1.66 in Corte Madera.

Other rainfall around the two counties yesterday: Tamalpais Valle, .98; Petaluma, .04; Sausalito, .80; Bolinas, .88; San Anselmo, .35; Novato, .45, and Woodacre, .88.

San Rafael had .54 of an inch in the 24 hours ending at noon today, bringing to 1.61 inches the rainfall since the storm began.

Temperatures in Marin and Southern Sonoma were in the low to mid 60s, with 64 degrees the high yesterday at Hamilton Air Force Base near Novato.

The weatherman predicted a 60 per cent chance of rain today, 40 per cent tonight and 30 per cent tomorrow. Southerly winds will be from 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Water Board Told To Give Manager Aid

Study Suggests Adding A Pair Of Assistants

The general manager of the Marin Municipal Water District should become less involved in day-to-day operations and should spend more time meeting with community groups, developing a district appearance of public responsiveness and credibility, a study of top management recommends.

To this end, the study suggests that the district hire an executive assistant, to shoulder some of the daily workload of the general manager, and a manager of community planning, who would be a combination watershed manager and public relations man.

The $6,000 study, by the San Francisco consulting firm of Cresap, McCormick and Paget, has been reviewed in closed session by district directors, who told General Mgr. J. Dietrich Stroeh to produce a plan for putting the recommendations into effect.

The behind-doors session was justified, according to Stroeh, because it involved a discussion of salaries and personnel matters, including comments on his

Group Can't Halt Tennis Club Plan

By ERIK M. INGRAM

A band of Monte Cristo area residents lost a round yesterday in their fight to block conversion of picturesque Camp Lilienthal near Fairfax into a private swim and tennis club.

On a unanimous vote, the Marin County Planning Commission rejected their appeal but scaled down the size of the club from 10 courts to eight. (Other Marin County Planning Commission stories, page 19.)

The residents, represented by Novato attorney Joseph A. Forest, complained that noise and traffic generated by the 300-member club would disrupt their quiet area, two miles west of Fairfax.

Commissioners differed, however, saying the club would be no more disruptive than the 200 to 600 boy scouts who once converged on the camp each year.

The planning commission's decision can be appealed to county supervisors, though Forest said yesterday he didn't know if it would be.

Opposition to the club also has been expressed by the Fairfax School District board, Fairfax City Council and Sierra Club.

As approved by the commission, the proposed Redwood Racquet Club would include eight tennis courts, a pro-shop, snack bar, swimming pool and related facilities.

Promoters of the club said yesterday they plan to remodel existing boy scout buildings and the only new construction will be the courts and a dressing room.

Architect Robert Arrigoni, brother of Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., told the commission the protesting neighbors had disseminated misleading and false information in gathering 650 signatures on petitions against the project.

He disputed one claim, that the project would generate more than 1,000 auto trips per day, saying the environmental impact report showed a maximum of 173 trips per day.

Stop On Eviction Order Near Bolinas Is Urged

Marin County supervisors today urged federal officials to withdraw eviction orders against the tenants of 10 small homes near Bolinas Lagoon.

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini told his colleagues that the Interior Department had promised not to disturb the families immediately, once the homes and surrounding lands were added to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

He said the department "has reneged on its pledge" and served the tenants with notice that their homes are to be destroyed.

Eight of the 10 homes, which lie along Shoreline Highway near Stinson Beach, were owned by George P. Leonard, who sold most of his West Marin land holdings to the government two months ago.

The families have rented them for nine to 18 years, paying from $75 to $150 per month rent. They currently pay the federal government.

In a letter to the board, tenant Marjorie Conte said the families have served as "quiet custodians" of the land, keeping campers from lighting fires, driving off hunters and picking up tourists' trash.

She said the homes are a valuable asset to the county, providing low-rent housing in an area where such housing is difficult to find.

On Giacomini's motion, supervisors agreed unanimously to ask local representatives in Congress to make sure the eviction notices are withdrawn until the federal government comes up with definite plans for using the land.

Chairman Michael Wornum was absent, vacationing in England.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Retains Peron's Secretary

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Maria Estela Isabel Peron, widow and political heir of Juan D. Peron, has retained her husband's private secretary as her own.

Isabel

Jose Lopez Rega, 58, held the powerful post of presidential private secretary to Mrs. Peron's husband until his death last Monday and was considered one of his most influential associates.

He is a longtime confidant of the Peron family and the author of several books on astrology.

Rega is the father-in-law of Raul A. Lastiri, who became president for three months last year.

Against Recall

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The spray paint industry has asked the government not to force it to recall or buy back millions of cans of paint containing vinyl chloride which may be in the hands of consumers.

Such a recall or repurchase is possible as part of a ban on the use of vinyl chloride — a suspected cancer causer — in aerosol sprays which has been proposed by the government's Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The ban, which appears likely to be lowered next month, would principally affect spray paints.

Franco In Hospital

MADRID (UPI) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco was hospitalized today suffering from an inflammation of the veins called phlebitis, a government spokesman said.

Full Squadron

SAIGON (UPI) — The United States has handed over the first full squadron of 20 modern F5E jets to the South Vietnamese air force as part of the piece-by-piece replacement of used war equipment, military sources said today.

The sources said the last four supersonic jets arrived at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airbase yesterday and were immediately given to the air force.

French Bombs

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — France exploded two atomic bombs at its South Pacific testing grounds over the weekend, not one as reported by Australia and New Zealand, French military sources said today.

Government officials refused to confirm or deny the report.

To Explode Device

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission will detonate a nuclear explosive device under the desert tomorrow morning.

The AEC said the device, with a yield of 20 to 200 kilotons, will be powerful enough to be felt in Las Vegas, 200 miles south of the test site.

Emergency Off

BANGKOK (UPI) — The Thai government today lifted the state of emergency it imposed last week to combat Bangkok riots that left 24 persons dead and 127 injured.

Pressure On Emperor

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The Ethiopian parliament met under pressure from the army today to enact a new constitution stripping Emperor Haile Selassie of much of the absolute power he enjoyed for more than half a century.

The army announced more arrests in its continuing drive to eliminate corruption.

Guerrillas Angry

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Palestinian guerrillas vowed today to hlaunch a new round of reprisal raids in retaliation for Israel's lightning naval strikes against Lebanon's Mediterranean coast.

Officials in Beirut and Tel Aviv issued conflicting reports on last night's raids, which broke a three-week lull in the escalating war of strikes and counter-strikes along the Israeli-Lebanese front.

Israeli military sources said naval commandoes sank an estimated 30 vessels at the ports of Tyre, Sidon and Ras-e-Sheik.

Annexation Vow

RABAT, Morocco (UPI) — The Moroccan government has vowed to assert its "territorial integrity" next year by annexing neighboring Spanish Sahara, the lasj major colony in Spain's once-sprawling overseas empire.

King Hassan II said last night 1975 "will be a year of mobilizing, both inside the kingdom and outside, to liberate the still occupied Moroccan territories."

Trudeau Scores A Solid Victory

PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU
Surprises pollsters

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's handling of inflation, the issue that toppled his Liberal government two months ago, won him a surprising and solid victory early today in Canada's general election.

The liberals won at least 140 seats in the House of Commons, seven more than they needed to capture control of Parliament for the next four years.

The latest result gave the Conservatives 95 seats, and the Quebec-based Social Credit movement 12. The New Democratic Party had 16, and the anti-French mayor of Moncton, N.B., got elected as an independent despite disavowal by the Conservative party.

It was a victory that surprised pollsters, who had predicted that neither Trudeau nor opposition Conservative leader Robert L. Stanfield would gain an absolute majority.

Until his government was toppled May 8 on the inflation issue, Trudeau had ruled for 18 months with a minority government kept in office with support of the socialist New Democratic Party. It was the defection of the New Democrats that toppled Trudeau.

Ironically, the New Democrat leader David Lewis, was beaten in Toronto. His party's parliamentary representation was almost halved from 31 seats won in 1972.

The Trudeau comeback, basically a smashing Liberal triumph in the key province of Ontario, gave Canada a clear cut majority government for only the third time since 1962.

"Canada has come out of this election strong, confident of its future," said Trudeau, who first became prime minister in 1968.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Dorothy Glisson, who began her career in state government 30 years ago as a typist, yesterday was sworn in as secretary of state, becoming Florida's first woman cabinet member.

Colson Off To Jail With Bibles

MCLEAN, Va. (UPI) — Former White House tough guy Charles W. Colson went to jail yesterday, packing a few editions of the Bible and a promise of new information about Watergate.

Before leaving his home here to surrender to federal authorities in Baltimore, Colson told reporters he would testify before the House Judiciary Committee Friday.

He would not say whether his information would help or hurt President Nixon, the man on whose behalf he masterminded political dirty tricks in the 1972 election.

But Colson did say, when pressed, "It's information that I hope will be helpful to the cuntry in getting over the agonies of Watergate."

He said the information would deal, in part, with his relationship to Nixon, "which was and is very close."

Colson began a one-to-three-year prison sentence for obstruction of justice in attempting to smear Daniel Ellsberg while he was on trial for leaking the Pentagon Papers.

He told reporters gathered in his driveway he felt about prison like the character who was tarred and feathered and run out of town: "If it wasn't for the honor I'd just as soon avoid it."

Foster City Girl Elected Governor Of Girls State

SQUAW VALLEY (UPI) — Renay Miller, 16, of Foster City, has been elected governor at the 31st annual session of California Girls state sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary.

Leigh Allyson Marshall, of San Bernardino, was chosen as "outstanding citizen."

Other officers include, Tracy Ann Gomez, Hacienda Heights, lieutenant governor; Lisa Hetherington, Chico, secretary of state; Jacquelin Walker, Carson, controller; Bonnie Medugno, Sylmar, treasurer; Jody Struck, Le Selva Beach, attorney general, and Lori Ashikawa, Pasadena, superintendent of public instruction.

Holiday Drivers Ignore Limits

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians displayed "almost total disregard" for the state's 55 mile an hour speed limit during the July 4 weekend and highway deaths remained at previous levels, the Highway Patrol said.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski kept up his attack on speeding motorists yesterday with the release of statistics showing 42 persons died on freeways and highways during the holiday, exactly the same as the last four-day July 4 weekend. The Independence Day holiday last year did not span four days.

"I was on the road myself for two days, and there is almost total disregard for the speed limit," the 21-year patrol veteran declared.

Besides higher speeds, increasing traffic since the peak of the gasoline shortage was blamed for keeping highway deaths at the same level. The state estimated Californians traveled more than three billion miles during the holiday.

While the death toll on highways remained unchanged, there were fewer fatal accidents on city streets—20 this holiday compared with 32 in 1972—Pudinski said.

The commissioner has become increasingly critical lately of what he said is widespread disrespect for the lowered speed limit. On Sunday he accused many drivers of paying "lip service" to the merits of the 55 m.p.h. limit while driving faster themselves.

Pudinski also disclosed that highway arrests during the holiday reached an all-time high of 4,500 per day. Still, he added, for every speeder cited there were 20 who got away.

One-third of the traffic deaths during the weekend were pedestrians, motorcyclists or bicyclists. Drinking drivers, Pudinski said, were "infrequently involved."

Three drivers in July 4th fatal accidents were under the influence of alcohol, he said, while six others had been drinking.

Lost Ring Found After 21 Years

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — Harry Gieg was digging a drainage trench outside his home during the weekend when he unearthed a gold wedding ring.

Gieg, seeing the initials and wedding date engraved inside the band, took it to the Lancaster County Courthouse to track down the owner.

Riles Charts Areas In Schools' Reforms

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Community involvement is needed for California high schools to meet individual needs of students, state schools chief Wilson Riles says.

"We are meeting the needs of the majority of students, but there is a large minority whose needs we aren't meeting at all," Riles said yesterday at a news conference following the first meeting of the newly appointed Commission on Reform of Intermediate and Secondary Education.

Riles said many students are bored in school, many drop out and many feel education is not relevant to their needs.

Although there is not a "crisis situation" in California schools, he said, the new 36-member commission will seek to define the problems and propose solutions.

"Schools have become disconnected with their communities," Riles said, "and in some instances schools have become self-serving."

The commission, which is to make its report to Riles in six months, includes students, teachers, university professors, and representatives of labor, agriculture and industry.

"Why can't we think of the student as a client to be served by the institution rather than something to be pushed through a mold," he asked.

The new commission will investigate all phases of intermediate and secondary education, and Riles said he has committed his office to pushing for rapid implementation of the commission's suggestions. However, the state board of education has not authorized the commission.

Dr. Leland Newcomer, president of La Verne College and chairman of the commission, said the technology exists to "tailor education to the individual needs of students, but we're not using it."

Riles said the commission would examine "learning experiences outside of the schools" as a means of increasing student interest in their work. "The idea htat the schools do it alone," he said, "is something we can no longer tolerate."

Companies Charged With Bay Pollution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The federal government has filed suits charging four firms with illegally polluting San Francisco Bay or its tributaries.

James Browning, U.S. attorney, filed the suits yesterday in U.S. District Court at the request of Paul DeFalco Jr., the Environmental Protection Agency's regional director.

In each case, the government asked for injunctions to prevent additional pollution and for $10,000 fines.

There was no immediate comment from any of the firms.

The suits said the violations of the federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 happened in 1973.

Those named as defendants and the charges were:

General American Transportation Corp., Oakland, depositing an alkaline industrial waste into San Francisco Bay;

Williard Schoenfeld, Inc., Redwood City, discharging acidic wastes into Redwood Creek, which flows into San Francisco Bay.

In a related case, Meyers Drum Co., Emeryville, agreed to pay a $4,000 penalty for allowing chemicals to flow into Temescal Creek, a tributary of San Francisco Bay.

That case was handled by the state attorney general's office and the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Haldeman Offers $1 Million Book

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — H. R. Haldeman is offering his memoirs to New York publishers for $1 million, the Los Angeles Times reported today. The newspaper said four publishers have turned down the offer.

The memoirs are tentatively titled "Inside," and prospective buyers have been shown an eight-page outline and a dummy book jacket with a photo of Haldeman in the oval office with President Nixon.

The outline of the chapter on Watergate was vague, the Times said. "It said in effect that the subject would be covered later."

Demo Telethon Called A Success

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National chairman Robert Strauss says the party's June 29-30 telethon was a political, artistic and financial success.

He said yesterday the party expects to collect $6.3 million of the $7 million pledged.

State Democratic parties will get two-thirds of the anticipated $4 million profits after payment of $2.3 million for air time and production costs, he said.

The national party will receive slightly less than $1.5 million from the 21-hour show.

Jackson Says He'll Flex On Relations Amendment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson says he is open to compromise on his aendment linking future U.S. trade concessions for the Russians to a more liberalized Soviet emigration policy.

Jackson told a news conference yesterday he hoped the Soviets "would show some give" in their opposition to the amendment. "I'm willing to show some give."

The Washington Democrat also called on the administration to withdraw its embassy from Taiwan and extend full diplomatic recognition to Communist China.

Jackson, who returned Saturday from a seven-day trip to the People's Republic of China, said that by reversing "our embassy and liaison office as between Taipei (the capital of Taiwan) and Peking," the United States could further better relations with the mainland.

The United States presently maintains full diplomatic ties with Taiwan but maintains only a liaison office in Peking.

Jackson's pending amendment to the trade reform bill would withhold granting "most favored nation" trade status to the Soviet Union until Russian Jews and other citizens are allowed to emigrate freely to other countries.

Such trade status would place the Soviets on a par with other nations currently trading with this country.

Jackson said annual numbers of Soviets allowed to emigrate was up for negotiation.

He said he has been working closely with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger on his amendment.

"I do believe there is an area of compromise and negotiation can be effectuated," Jackson said, adding that he did not support total withdrawal of U.S. diplomatic relations with Taiwan —as the mainland Chinese have sought.

He said that Premier Chou En-Lai, with whom he met last week, was "a sick man," and that China would have a serious succession problem in the future.

A difference of two degrees in heating and air-conditioning units in United States home would save the equivalent of 100 million tons of coal a year, experts estimate.

40 WINKS AMONG THE WATERMELONS

With the temperature in the mid 90s, watermelon sales should have been brisk in St. Louis yesterday, but Gary DeCourley, 15, of Fisk, Mo., found it was so slow he had time to take a little nap atop his produce at the farmer's market. (UPI Telephoto)

Crackdown In Building Area Asked

Tighter standards on condominiums were recommended last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

Commissioners recommended an ordinance amendment that would require 10 per cent more parking space than the standard requirement, according to Zoning Administrator Charles J. Linthicum.

Commissioners also recommended additional storage area, sufficient laundry facilities and stricter standards on maintenance, Linthicum said.

ZAHORENKO — Approved a tentative map by Zahorenko Construction Co. for a six-lot subdivision on 1.63 acres along Tamalpais Avenue between Hill Road and Center Road.

FELIZA PLAZA — Approved a tentative subdivision map by Summit Building Co. for Feliz Plaza, a six-lot subdivision on 1.22 acre bordered by Feliz Road, Shady Lane and Simmons Lane.

SHOPPING CENTER — Accepted the draft environmental impact report for the San Marin Shopping Center on 7.5 acres at the northwest corner of San Marin and San Andreas drives.

VETERINARY HOSPITAL — Recommended rezoning of a parcel at 1530 South Novato Boulevard from planned residential to retail business as requested by Gidron Y. Sorokin, who plans a veterinary hospital at the site.

REZONING — Recommended rezoning the 4.2-acre Garl-Bygdnes property on the west side of Tamalpais Avenue, south of Warner Creek, from limited agricultural to multiple-family residential.

DIABLO AVENUE — Recommended that the Curran parcel at 895 Diablo Avenue be rezoned from single-family residential to administrative-professional.

BEL MARIN — Recommended rezoning 117 acres northeast of Bel Marin Keys Boulevard, north of Los Robles Mobile Home Park, with 100 acres for planned industrial and 17 acres, including the humane society's wildlife sanctuary, for limited agriculture.

FUCHS PROPERTY — Recommended rezoning the eight-acre Fuchs property south of Novato Boulevard, west of Sutro Avenue, from 10-acre lots to one acre lots.

PREZONING — Recommended prezoning seven lots along Center Road at Gregor Lane for 10,000-square-foot single-family lots.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. July 22 at the Novato Community House and scheduled a special meeting July 29 to review the proposed growth management policy.

Lee Paper Starts Air Quality Project

ANDERSON (BW) — Groundbreaking ceremonies have signaled the start of construction of an air quality improvement project costing in excess of $10 million at Simpson Lee Paper Company's pulp mill here.

Public officials and community leaders attending the ceremony heard company Chairman Furman C. Moseley describe the recovery boiler project as "the largest single environmental project ever undertaken by Simpson Lee."

Nixon Reappoints Marshal Van Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today nominated U.S. Marshal Arthur F. Van Court to serve a new four-year term for the eastern district of California.

Van Court, 48, of Sacramento, has served since March, 1970 as U.S. marshal for the eastern district.

Iraq Hints Of Sabotage On Curbing Oil Prices

BAGHDAD (UPI) — Iraq accused the United States and Saudi Arabia today of collaborating to push down the price of oi against the will of oil-producing countries.

Commenting on the forthcoming visit of Treasury Secretary William Simon to the Middle East this week, the government newspaper, Al Jumhouria, said, "The reactionary regime in Saudi Arabia has recently pledged to realize America's desire to reduce the price of oil."

The Saudi move "aims at sabotaging the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries," the newspaper said.

OPEC has rejected any reduction in the prices of oil and warned that prices will be raised even further if the industrialized countries in the world fail to curb inflation, it said.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Only Bee Can Make Honey

The label says "Genuine Imitation Honey."

Can't do that now. Honey may not be labeled "Honey" unless it is made by bees. No product may be labeled imitation honey or be represented as such. This new law was added in 1973.

Another 1973 law regulated the labeling of milk products. Also those products that resemble milk products. Imitation creams, desserts and like items have to tell their food content and dietary value. The Director of Food and Agriculture holds hearings. These hearings set the nutritional content of foods. If there are federal regulations on dietary contents required by the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic laws, then the labeling of California products shall be consistent.

The Director will get samples of the labels and give his approval or disapproval before the labels are to be used.

There are also laws which govern many other products.

For example the use of "kosher" is regulated. You can't label pickels "kosher" unless they are.

Kosher meats must be prepared in accordance with ritual. The way an animal or fowl is killed, how it must be dressed, treated and prepared for human consumption has to all be in accordance with Jewish law and custom.

Advertising to the contrary is a crime punishable by $300 fine and up to 90 days in jail.

California has a number of laws that are protective of its food products. Re-processed or renovated butter must be plainly labeled. You can't just deodorize and sell rancid butter without telling the buyer plainly on the label. It would be a misdemeanor.

Same rule applies to any person who adds anything to candy, such as drugs, clay, or candle wax, and then sells it or gives it away. That is a misdemeanor.

Some things you can't even give away. In 1971 a law was added prohibiting the delivering to any home of an unsolicited razor blade.

General laws govern false advertising of products. Even though there are no specific laws, it is a civil wrong, as well as a criminal act to falsely mislead consumers.

Reynolds Sues On Photo Use

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actor Burt Reynolds has filed a $3 million suit against a photographer and a publishing firm charging unauthorized use of one of the his almost-nude pictures.

Named as defendants in the suit, Reynolds' press agent said, were photographer Francesco Scavullo and the MacFadden Bartell Corp., publisher of Motion Picture Magazine.

Inmates Flee During Lunch

PLEASANTON (UPI) — Two Alameda County Jail inmates took advantage of a lunch break yesterday — they escaped.

Sheriff's deputies said Daryl Freeman, 37, awaiting sentence for burglary, and Gilbert Witherspoon, 27, convicted on a stolen property charge, drove out the main gate in a pickup truck while the gate guard was having lunch.

Jail Time To Be Cut For Diploma

A Marin City man can go to the county's minimum-security honor farm and begin studying for his high school diploma as a result of action yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Charles Read Best sentenced 26-year-old Henry Garrison Jr. to three months in jail, to be tacked on to the end of a one-year sentence Garrison presently is serving.

But if Garrison completes requirements for his high school diploma before his scheduled release date in five months, he won't have to serve the extra time, Best ruled.

Garrison has been in county jail since March, ineligible to move to the honor farm because of the pending drug charge.

Sausalito police arrested Garrison in February and he was charged with possessing cocaine and a tape recorder with the serial number removed.

At the time of that arrest, he was awaiting sentencing on a charge of possessing stolen property, a charge for which he later received a one-year term.

'Total Health' Class Slated

A workshop-type class on "Total Health of the Total Person" will begin tomorrow under the sponsorship of Unity in Marin.

Minister Candida Wright will instruct the class, which will be given each Wednesday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Instruction will be based on the research of Dr. Marcus Bach, and will stress proper breathing and nutrition as well as exercise and meditation for mentally, spiritually and physically integrated living.

More information is available from Unity in Marin at 24 H Street, San Rafael. Tuition will be charged.

Markarios Claims Greeks In Plot

NICOSIA (UPI) — President Archbishop Makarios has accused the Greek government of plotting to assassinate him and trying to impose a dictatorship in Cyprus. Makarios asked Athens to recall 650 Greek officers from the island.

He said he does not fear a coup against his government by the officers. Nevertheless, local trade unions told their members to be on the alert.

Fred Williamson To Join Cosell

NEW YORK (UPi) —Fred The Hammer Williamson, former all-pro defensive back, will join Howard Cosell and Frank Gifford as a member of the broadcast team for ABC's NFL Monday night telecasts, it was announced yesterday.

Williamson, who replaces Don Meredith in the broadcast booth, signed a six-figure contract that covers 19 telecasts, including the pro bowl and Hall of Fame game.

Burton Opens Marin Office

Rep. John L. Burton, D-Sixth District, has opened his Marin office in Room 124 of San Rafael's Federal Building, 910 D Street.

The office is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Burton has a staff of four working in Marin, Mimi Beall of San Anselmo, Susan Anderson of Marinwood, Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae and Margie Goodman of Lucas Valley.

project, said other claims that the project was in conflict with the county and Fairfax general plans also were false.

Forest's main argument was that the project was commercial in nature and therefore not permitted by use permit in an area zoned for residential use.

Deputy County Counsel George J. Silvestri Jr. countered that his review of the project indicated it was primarily recreational — a use permitted in residential areas.

After lengthy discussion over types of membership, such as family, corporate and single, the commission agreed to reduce the size of the club by cutting the number of courts.

The two courts were eliminated from an area with unstable soil on the south side of the 20-acre site.

Other courts might be eliminated if engineering studies show more unstable areas, commissioners agreed.

The commission's position seemed to be summed up by Commissioner Marie J. Sessi who said restrictions imposed earlier by the county zoning administrator would protect the neighborhood.

Those restrictions include prohibitions against outdoor lighting, public address systems, social events and a cocktail lounge, among other things.

Five Arrested At Store In Probe Of Theft

Five employees of the Standard Brands Paint store, 375 Third Street, San Rafael, were arrested yesterday by San Rafael police on suspicion of grand theft.

James Reed, an assistant manager at the store, summoned police at 6:25 a.m. after he observed the five men loading $200 worth of goods into a van in the rear alley.

George E. Lemon, 24, of Berkeley; David W. Robison, 23, of El Cerrito, and Ray A. Robinson, 25, Tommie Lee Love, 39, and Robert Christian, 35, of Richmond, were booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $2,500 bail each. They were scheduled to appear in Municipal Court today.

Morning Nip May Help Hangover

BOSTON (UPI) — Taking a shot of the "hair of the dog" to cure a hangover actually works for some people, according to an experiment written up in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. James R. Hoon of Sheyboygan, Wis., studied two subjects, each of whom had severe hangovers from excessive drinking.

"A hefty nip in the morning" made them feel better, and chemical tests showed both experienced prompt relief from symptoms, wrote Hoon, who conceded he previously was skeptical of curing a drinking problem with more alcohol.

"I merely point out that in the two subjects presented (one a 25-year-old ex-Marine and the other, a 22-year-old college student), it worked to relieve suffering."

Married Cadet Faces Expulsion

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Cadet Donald Boyd, who described his wife as a "friend on a U.S. government insurance form, could be expelled from the United States Military Academy for falsifying a government document.

Late Friday night a Board of Officers Tribunal ruled that the 23-year-old Boyd violated the honor code in filling out Standard Government Life Insurance Form.

Boyd was married secretly and in violation of West Point regulations, in December, 1972.

According to academy rules, "Any cadet who is married prior to graduation shall be separated from the academy, but a similar regulation at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y., was struck down by a federal court.

OBITUARIES

John W. Nicol Dies Unexpectedly At Home

Funeral for John W. Nicol, construction supervisor at San Quentin for 20 years, is tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Williams and Heffernan Mortuary in San Rafael.

Nicol died unexpectedly Sunday following a heart attack at his home, 108 Corrillo Drive in Rafael Meadows. He was 58.

A memorial service is also scheduled at San Quentin, where he directed inmate construction teams on work throughout the prison.

Nicol was for years director of state-funded restoration of historic buildings in the Monterey area. He researched and directed construction on restoration work which included William Randolph Hearst's palace, San Simeon, the Robert Louis Stevenson House, and the first theater and Customs House in Monterey.

Nicol was a member of the San Quentin's Employees' Association and the California State Employees' Association.

He is survived by his wife Elizabeth J. Nicol, of the home; his mother, Mary Nicol of Menlo Park; a daughter, Mary Schug of Meadow Vista; a brother, William Nicol of Vallejo; a sister, Nicky Farmer of Menlo Park, and two grandsons.

Inurnment will be private.

MANAGER

Stroeh, named acting general manager last November after the resignation of William R. Seeger and selected from among 150 applicants for the permanent position in April, currently makes $32,000 a year.

Formerly manager of engineering, Stroeh served as assistant to Seeger, among other duties. Since his promotion, no one has been hired to help him with daily administrative duties, such as coordinating communication with department heads and directors, the study notes.

The report notes that Marin Municipal — unique among other water districts studied — finds itself at the center of a vigorous community debate over conservation and development issues.

Because of this controversy, according to the consultants, "we foresee an especially demanding schedule of meeting and conferring with community groups. . .regarding policy matters developed by elected directors."

The report predicts a shift in community interest from the moratorium on new water connections, which has been hotly discussed over the past two years, to more long-range issues involving public use of the district's large watershed.

The manager of community planning would be responsible for the watershed, including policy recommendations on possible recreational use of the land by the public, and also for organizing community information efforts on water related issues, the latter being an area in which the district is weakest and in which the present general manager has the least experience, according to the report.

He also would develop and maintain a program of "effective media relations based on disclosure and trust," represent the general manasger at intergovernmental planning conferences and on community task forces concerned with land use and conservation.

The manager of community planning would not be a new job, Stroeh said, but rather an expanded version of the position held by Clerin W. Zumwalt, the former manager of watershed management who recently retired.

"Furthermore," the study says, "in establishing this position district management will give visible evidence of its desire to respond to the wishes of the board of directors."

Commenting on that remark, Stroeh said he has received no complaint from directors that district staff is ignoring the wishes of the board.

The study also recommends that salaries for division managers remain the same, between $19,980 and $25,524, and that the general manager be paid from $32,000 to $40,000 annually.

ALFONS KRAFT

Mass of Christian Burial for Alfons Kraft of Cotati will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in that city.

Kraft, 74, died Sunday in a Petaluma hospital after a long illness.

He was a native of Germany who came to California at the age of 23. He first worked as a plasterer in San Francisco, and in 1930 moved to Petaluma, where he operated a trucking firm and poultry business. He retired 10 years ago. His home since 1943 was at 9740 Old Redwood Highway.

Kraft was a member of Hermann Sons Lodge No. 26 of Petaluma and of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

He is survived by his wife, Elsie Kraft of Cotati; four sisters, Regina Loher and Gertrude Reiger, both of Cotati, Paula Maier of Petaluma and Emma Zirn of Germany, and a brother, Henry Kraft of Irvington, N.J.

The Rosary will be recited in his memory at 8 p.m. today at the Sorensen Funeral Home in Petaluma. The Hermann Sons Lodge will conduct a ritual at 8:30 p.m. Entombment will be in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

ISABEL V. MURPHY

Isabel V. Murphy, mother of George F. Murphy of San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital following a brief illness. She was 84.

A native of Boston, Mass., Mrs. Murphy moved to San Francisco in 1920 and then shortly thereafter to9Los Angeles where she found employment as a film editor with 20th Century Fox studios.

She came to San Rafael 10 years ago to live at 292 Fairhills Drive with her son, by whom she is survived.

At the deceased's request, no funeral will be held and burial will be private.

LOUISE McCOMBIE

Funeral for Louise McCombie, member of a pioneer Tiburon family, is tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at Laurel Chapel Mortuary in Oakland.

Mrs. McCombie, 100, died Sunday at an Oakland convalescent home after a long illness.

Born in Tiburon in June, 1874, Mrs. McCombie was the ninth of 10 children of August and Justine Heebner.

During the recent Tiburon anniversary celebration, the city council passed a resolution in honor of her 100th birthday which occurred in the anniversary month.

She attended the first Reed School and witnessed the building of the railroad into Tiburon.

In 1894 she married Alexander McCombie and started a chicken ranch with him in the Seafirth area of Tiburon.

They later took their family to a ranch in Calaveras County and then moved to Oakland in 1931. McCombie died in 1966.

Survivors include three daughters, Ethel Irish, Grace Wolfe and Christine Anderson of Oakland; three sons, Allan and Horace McCombie of Oakland and Percival McCombie of Portland, Ore.; and 10 grandchildren, 18 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Burial will be at Evergreen Cemetery in Oakland.

JOHN SAUTER

John B. Sauter, longtime resident of San Rafael, died yesterday at his home at 35 Culloden Park Road, following a long illness. He was 73.

Sauter was a native of San Francisco and a survivor of the 1906 earthquake there. He was a graduate of Stanford University.

In 1945, he moved to San Rafael with his wife, Mary, and they had lived on Culloden Park Road since then.

Sauter was the former owner and president of Stuart-Sauter Co., a convention services contracting firm based in South San Francisco.

An avid outdoorsman, Sauter was a member of Ducks Unlimited.

In addition to his wife, Sauter is survived by his mother, Katherine Sauter of San Francisco: two sons, Robert of San Rafael and John Sauter Jr. of Merrimack, N.H., a brother, Arthur R. Sauter of Greenbrae, and a sister, Elizabeth H. Sauter of San Francisco, and two grandchildren.

Private family service was held yesterday in San Rafael. Burial was private.

Mexican Chief Fears New War

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria of Mexico says despite the Nixon-Brezhnev summit talks, he still fears the world is heading toward nuclear war unless industrial nations treat the Third World more equitably.

"This is the view I take with me on my tour of South America, he said. He leaves Thursday on a swing through Ecuador, Peru, Argentina, Brazil and Venezuela.

A Soviet correspondent asked Echeverria at a press conference for his reaction to the Moscow summit of the U.S. and Soviet leaders.

"I hope it will contribute to world peace, he said. "But every day both countries spend more and more on arms. The Soviet Union and the United States are going to make war. This is the consensus of the Third World.

New President For Lions Club

Johnny Balbo, who won the world's light-heavyweight championship in 1947, says the theme for his one-year reign will be: "Lionism. . . a heritage challenging tomorrow."

Balbo, 61, of La Grange, Ill., said one of his primary goals would be to build "greater cooperation between the people of the world by placing a continuing emphasis on the need for love, compassion and understanding between human beings."

Today is Tuesday, July 9, the 190th day of 1974 with 175 to follow.

The moon is approachings it last quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, was born July 9, 1819. This also is the 46th birthday of American actor Vince Edwards.

On this day in history:

In 1900, Australia entered the Federal British Commonwealth.

In 1943, American, Canadian and British forces invaded Sicily during World War II.

In 1960, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev threatened the United States with rockets if American forces attempted to oust the Castro Communist regime from Cuba.

In 1970, Maj. Gen. George Casey and six others were killed in a helicopter crash in Vietnam, the seventh American general killed in that war.

A thought for the day: German poet Friederich Wilhelm Nietzsche said, "Distrust all those in whom the impulse to punish is powerful."

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes The Simple Rules May Be Best Line Of Action

This column is sometimes full of advice on fancy plays because bridge is sometimes a complicated game. But there are times when you can get the best result by living a clean life and following the old copybook rules.

Opening lead — ◇ 3

West opened a low diamond, and East continued the suit. South ruffed the second diamond, led a club to dummy's ace and led the queen of spades from dummy for a finesse.

The queen of spades held, and declarer next led the jack of spades from dummy to continue the finesse.

The contract was now unbeatable if South followed the sage advice of the Founding Fathers: Make sure of the contract first and think about overtricks later.

The copybooks also say that greed doesn't pay; and this hand is offered to the publishers of rules for clean living as proof of their claim. South decied to leave the last trump at large in order to try some heart finesses. He planned to finesse with the ten of hearts first. If that worked, he would lead the ace of trumps to drop the king, cash a high club, ruff a club to reach dummy and try the other heart finesse.

Alas for poor South. The heart finesse lost to the jack, and back came a club. East ruffed with the king of spades and led another heart. South had to lose a second heart trick and his ice-cold contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - K 5 4
♥ - 5 2
♦ - A K 9 8 7 6 5
♣ - 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond. You have only 10 points in high cards, and you would pass if these consisted chiefly of queens and jacks. Since the high cards are prime values, you can afford to open the bidding with this borderline hand.

RECREATIONAL CENTER — This historic brown shingle home in Belvedere could become a recreational center for the city. The city's mayor and some other residents have put a down payment on the property to hold it while city officials discuss the possibility of purchase.

Old Home Sought As Rec Center

They already have put a deposit down on the $225,000 property to give the city time to decide if it wants to buy it.

The home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fleming Jr., was built as a clubhouse for a private golf course in 1914. It was designed by architect Albert Farr.

After World War II, the golf course acreage was subdivided by the Belvedere Land Co., and the clubhouse became a private home.

The home and its tennis court, swimming pool and garden is on 1.12 acres near the intersection of Britton Lane and Golden Gate Avenue.

When the property went up for sale this spring, Mayor David E. Bordon, Councilman Thomas Price and Charles Page and Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. put a down payment on it to give the city time to raise funds to buy it. The four have until July 17 to arrange financing.

Mayor Bordon said that if the city decides it wants the house, the four would try to go ahead with the purchase. The city then could buy it back from the group.

At a joint meeting of the city council and parks and recreation commission last week, several ways of buying the house were discussed, including a donation drive among residents and a bond issue. Mayor Bordon said a bond issue to buy it would cost the owner of a $120,000 house an added property tax of $30 per year.

"We're going very slowly at this time," said Bordon. "Some of the neighbors are worried about noise and traffic problems if this should become recreational property."

The house itself might become a meeting hall or library, Bordon suggested.

Hitchhiker Lottery Asked

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — A lgislator who was arrested for hitchhiking has an idea to reward motorists who give thumbers a ride —pay them off.

State Rep. Perry Bullard sponsored legislation yesterday to establish a hitchhiker's lottery.

Under the plan, based on an existing venture in Poland, hitchhikers would give special lottery coupons to those motorists offering rides.

The Bureau of State Lottery would issue the coupon books containing 100 individual coupons at a cost of $1. Each coupon would signify 10 miles of transportation.

$583,375 Grant For Gallinas Area

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A $583,375 grant to Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District has been approved by the state, Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, reported today.

The grant of federal and state funds will go toward the district's $781,000 project to upgrade sewage treatment and expand the capacity of its plant from two and a quarter million gallons a day to three million.

The improved treatment will meet tougher new state standards.

The grant includes $485,750 in federal funds and $97,625 in state money. Grants can cover up to 87.5 per cent of the cost of a project, but about $100,000 of the project did not qualify for the grant.

Mill Valley School District Faces $350,000 Outlay Trim

If Mill Valley School District voters don't approve an increase in how much can be spent per pupil in the district in 1975-76, about $350,000 will have to be chopped out of the district's spending program, the district board learned last night.

Supt. Peter Palches made that estimate for the board at a special meeting to discuss a proposed election in which voters would decide whether or not to raise spending per pupil.

The board agreed to continue discussing the election at a meeting next Monday at Mill Valley Middle School, Palches said.

State law limits the revenue which districts may raise by property taxes by restricting how much districts can spend per pupil. Under the state formula, the Mill Valley district will spend $1,234 per pupil in 1974-75. Last year it spent $1,204.

The estimated limit for the district for 1975-76 is $1,264. Palches said that the election, if held in November or March, would give the district power to spend $1,464 per pupil in 1975-76, an increase of $200 over its usual limit.

Without the increase, he said, the district would have to drop 14 or 15 administrative and teaching personnel, close a school and stop or reduce bus transportation.

If an increase in spending per pupil were approved, it would mean higher tax bills through an increase in the 1975-76 tax rate, Palches said, on top of recent dramatic increases in assessed valuation.

The 1974-75 rate will be $3.38 per $100 assessed valuation, down about 25 cents from 1973-74. Without approval of the spending per pupil increase for 1975-76, the rate would be $3.04, Palches noted. But if voters approve the spending increase, the rate will be $3.52.

JOHN PATTERSON
Kidnaped American

Body Found Thought To Be Diplomat

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (UPI) — A broken skull, some bones, dental records and a wedding ring were presented to authorities today as the last remains of 31-year-old American diplomat John Patterson, who was kidnaped March 22.

The sun-baked bones were found in the Sonora desert by a peasant looking for cactus fruits. A shallow grave had been washed away by heavy rains.

The discovery was virtually the first clue in the case since Patterson disappeared March 22 from the U.S. consulate here.

A ransom note was found in the consulate two hours later.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Mexico City withheld comment until U.S. authorities study the remains. But state police chief Francisco Arellano and Attorney General Miguel Angel Cortes said that the remains were those of Patterson.

The U.S. embassy said Patterson's wife Anne, who was staying in Mexico City, probably would not not fly here to identify the remains as planned earlier.

Authorities added that the skull was broken by apparent death blows in the face and the back of the head.

Midshipmen Are Expelled On Cheating

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI) — The U.S. Naval Academy today expelled seven midshipmen and placed an additional 13 on honor probation in connection with the institution's worst cheating scandal that required the entire 900-member sophomore class to retake a navigation exam.

Vice Admiral William P. Mack, academy superintendent, said the Midshipman Honor Committee investigated a total of 61 Middies and exonerated 41.

The honor committee said that the 41 used "poor judgment rather than cheating."

In a statement released by Academy officials today, the institution said 20 midshipmen were found to have been involved in the cheating and of them, seven were "separated" and 13 were placed on honor probation.

In addition, Mack said 29 navigation instructors were questioned and "the investigation concluded that only one instructor was responsible for the compromise and that no other personnel in the navigation department were involved.

"The instructor was given a "nonjudicial punishment" — a letter of admonition — and reassigned to nonteaching duties.

Mack also said that "it has been determined that the examination was compromised without any malicious intent or desire for personal gain by the instructor."

KAKUEI TANAKA

Prices Seen As Cause Of Tanaka Loss

Tanaka refused, however, to call the election reversals a defeat despite the disappearance of his party's 24-seat majority in the upper house of the Diet, the Japanese parliament.

The latest unofficial returns from Sunday's parliamentary vote indicated Tanaka's Liberal Democratic party (LDP) would wind up with only 126 seats in the 252-member upper house.

The Liberal Democrats previously held a healthy 134-seat majority in the upper house, a relatively weak legislative body with power to delay but not defeat legislation approved by the lower house.

The Socialists remained the strongest party in the opposition, winding up with a total of 62 seats in the upper house. The Buddhist Komeito had 24, Communists 20, Democratic Socialists 10 and independents 10.

Fairfax's Budget On Agenda

The Fairfax Town Council will grapple again with a proposed budget for 1974-75 at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Fairfax Women's Club.

The spending program, merely a compilation of departmental requests, stands at $693,945 following cuts made in three previous sessions. The fiscal plan was originally proposed at $931,506.

The council will meet in closed session at 7 p.m. Friday to discuss employee salaries, and expects to convene in open session to announce results of the closed meeting, according to City Clerk Eileen Foster.

The council will meet at 8 p.m. next Monday in the Fairfax Women's Club in a regular scheduled session.

Cosmonauts On Go Another Week

MOSCOW (UPI) — The head of the Soviet cosmonaut training program said today the Soyuz-14 cosmonauts, in their fifth day aboard the Salyut-3 space station, will remain aloft at least another week.

Maj. Gen. Vladimir A. Shatalov told American correspondents touring the cosmonaut training center at Zvyozdni Gorodok (Star City) 20 miles east of Moscow, that the cosmonauts were not seeking any space endurance records.

Asked if the men would stay in orbit another week, Shatalov nodded affirmatively. He shook his head when queried if it would be two weeks and replied "maybe" to a 10-day figure.

The American newsmen were taken on the 90-minute tour to observe nine American astronauts training with Soviet cosmonauts in preparation for next year's Soyuz-Apollo linkup.

Soviet newspapers said the Soyuz-14 cosmonauts were following a rigorous, 13-hour daily work schedule which prompted one of them to complain jokingly to ground controllers.

"Soon we'll elect a local trade union committee here and limit our working day," Col. Pavel Popovich, the wisecracking mission commander, told ground controllers yesterday, accordung to Trud, the trade union newspaper.

Soviet media said all was going well on the cosmonauts' fifth day aboard their 20-ton, three-room Salyut. The men docked with the station 26 hours after their launch last Wednesday.

In addition to 13 hours of work, Popovich and fellow cosmonaut Lt. Col. Yuri Artyukhin, both 44, get eight hours of sleep a day, one hour of rest, and two hours of physical exercise, the newspapers said.

Reports from Soviet correspondents at the flight control center indicated that Soviet scientists were especially concerned about the effect of weightlessness on the cosmonauts.

Both men worked out on the station's physical exercise simulator for the first time yesterday. They reported initial stiffness in their leg and back muscles and some difficulty in walking, the newspapers said.

They said scientists have done all they can to minimize the weightlessness effect, even down to special painting of the laboratory's inside.

Nothing Like Running To Keep You In Shape

By PAT BALMES

"It is so exciting to be in a race. There are not that many females. I remember in the Dipsea, people in the crowd would shout, 'Hey, here comes another girl' as you run by," said Jette Wright of Tiburon.

The mother of three young sons and a model in the Marin Mannequin League, Jette is now running half an hour a day, training for the Northern California Senior Track Club 15-mile race at Fort Baker on July 28 and the rugged 6.8-mile Dipsea Race on Aug. 25.

"I run every morning and do all kinds of exercises to stretch ligaments and muscles. You can really hurt your ligaments if you don't. I do not eat vitamins, but I sure try hard not to eat too much," said the runner.

She took up running three years ago and has a display wall of ribbons and medals to show for her arduous training. Jette runs alone every morning along Paradise Drive, "because when you run you can't talk."

During the school year, Jette usually waits until Paul, 8, Greg, 7, and Jeff, 6, leave for school before she runs three miles in 15 minutes. Sometimes she goes five miles and three days a week she will run an hour and cover seven miles.

ON A RECENT training run she was bitten by a dog, so now she takes along her Labrador, she said.

"I love to eat and drink, so I run to keep in shape and not weigh 200 pounds," the charity model said. "I would rather go out and run five or 10 miles than lay on my bedroom floor and do exercises."

"It's so boring to run on a track, around, around, around," said the native of Denmark, who flies the red Danish flag under the American flag on holidays and special occasions.

Jette came to the United States 10 years ago shortly after the death of her father, who was the owner of an oil company, she said. A registered nurse, she worked at Hahnemann Hospital in San Francisco. She married an American, from whom she was divorced three years ago, she said.

"Weather in Denmark is so bad. Every morning we biked to school whether it was raining or snowing. Once I asked for some money for the bus. 'What do you think you have got your legs for?' my father said," she said.

Although Denmark is "flat as a pancake," Jette's favorite sport is skiing. Her bronze medal won in a French slalom race is on her display wall. Recently she took second place in the women's competition at Jackson Hole's May Ski Camp. She skied 100,000 vertical feet on powder in the Bugaboo Range of the Canadian Rockies last year, she said.

Jette also plays tennis, scuba dives and bicycles, but she started running because she knew it was "absolutely number one exercise on the list," she said.

THREE YEARS ago she played tennis regularly with a friend at College of Marin, and the women ran the track after their games. Then she began to date San Rafael stockbroker Scott Hoopes.

"I suggested that we go over and run. Then we started to run around Phoenix Lake and Lagunitas Lake in the evening; the moon was just beautiful," she said.

They took a skin diving trip to Tahiti to dive over sunken freighters and ran on the beach. They decided to run in races, aiming ultimately perhaps for the 27-mile Boston marathon, she said.

In her first race, the Dipsea, Jette came in 99th out of 1,500 runners with the 15-minute women's headstart. The last hill, Insult Hill, is so steep you can hardly make it, she said, adding that the Olympic Club served champagne to her and its other members at the finish line.

The Dipsea Race is not as crowded as the "Bay to Breakers" Race in San Francisco, where thousands start all at once, she said.

Asked what she thought a woman's chances are of beating a man, Jette said there were at least 35 men over the finish line before the first woman in the San Francisco race.

However, she has noticed an increase in the number of women competing since she took up racing three years ago.

"I don't think it's fair of schools and colleges; they do not do so much for women runners as for men," she mentioned.

Jette has also run the five-mile Angel Island Race twice, the eight-mile Novato Ridge Run, the eight-mile Tiburon run, the 15-mile Northern California Senior Track Club Run at Fort Baker twice and the 6.8-mile Dipsea twice.

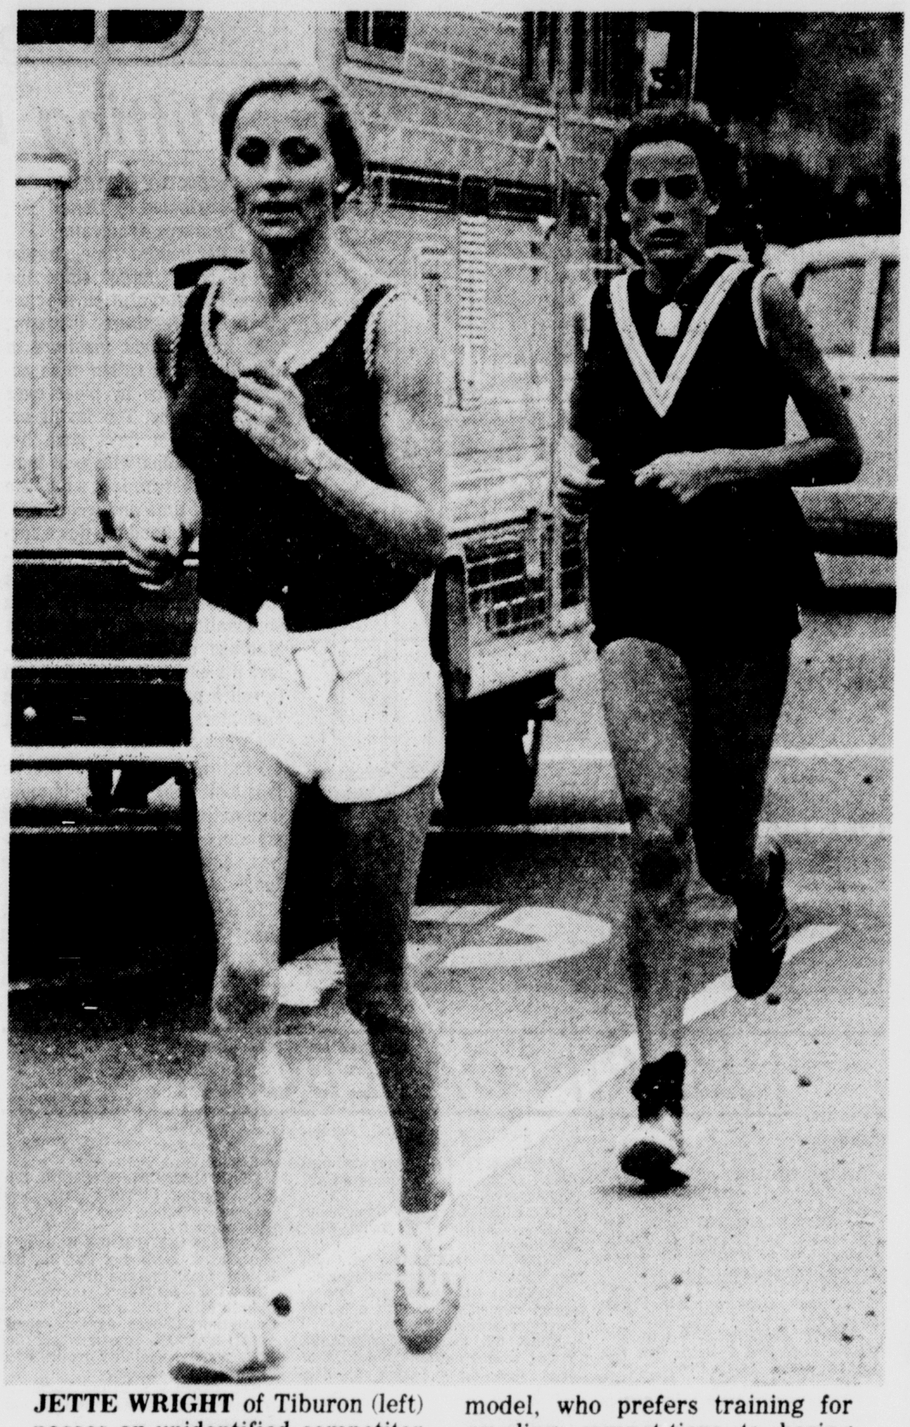
"The boys are so proud. I would like to keep it up. There will come a day when they will be standing at the finish line, waiting for me," said Jette.



JETTE WRIGHT of Tiburon (left) passes an unidentified competitor in the 1973 Annual Tiburon Run. The mother of three young sons and a Marin Mannequin League model, who prefers training for grueling competitions to boring exercises, will run in the July 28 Fort Baker Race and the Aug. 25 Dipsea Race.

Pamela Johnson To Become Bride

PAMELA LYNNE JOHNSON
November wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel W. Johnson of San Rafael have announced the engagement of their daughter Pamela Lynne Johnson to Andrew A. Pansini of Novato.

Pamela was graduated from San Rafael High School, the College of Marin and the California State University, Chico, and is employed with the law firm of Hanson, Bridgett, Marcus and Jenkins in San Francisco. She is the sister of Bruce R. Johnson of San Diego.

Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. Pansini of Greenbrae and the brother of David, Jane and Laurie Pansini and Mrs. Richard Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Conner and Mrs. Michael Freeman.

He is also the grandson of Mrs. Andrew Pansini of Newport Beach and Liola Raue of San Francisco.

Andrew was graduated from Marin Catholic High School, the College of Marin and the University of San Francisco. He is the controller of Jandy Products, Inc., of San Rafael.

The couple plan a Nov. 30 wedding.

Vows Exchanged In Saturday Rite

Wearing the same tails that his grandfather wore for his wedding Robert Maxwell Lee Jr. of San Rafael claimed Joan Margaret Mercer of San Anselmo as his bride Saturday in a ceremony at St. Rita's Catholic Church in Fairfax.

The bride, who is known as Maggie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Mercer of San Anselmo, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Lee.

Maid of honor was Clara Souleau of New Orleans, and Mrs. Roy Loney of San Anselmo was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brian Forment of Woodland; Mrs. Michael Forman, Sally Jones and Stephanie Simon of San Anselmo; the bridegroom's sister, Kathy Lee of San Rafael; and Terri Ring of San Francisco.

Parker Lee of San Rafael was his brother's best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Roy Loney of San Anselmo, Robert Hardeman of San Francisco and Ray Griffin, Ed Pedersen, Charles Gray and Anthony Nathe of San Rafael.

Maggie was graduated from San Domenico School for Girls and Dominican College. She is employed at the college as laboratory manager of the science department.

The bridegroom was graduated from San Rafael High School and the School of Communication Electronics. He also attended California State University, San Francisco. Robert is employed by radio stations KDFC-FM and KIBE-AM in San Francisco. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Porter of Napa.

Following a trip along the West Coast the couple will live in San Rafael.

Jill Irene Donnellan Weds Didier Busnot

Jill Irene Donnellan of Tiburon became the bride of Didier (Don) Busnot of San Bruno on June 29 at St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donnellan of Tiburon. She is the sister of Cynthia Brewer of Mill Valley and John and Michael Donnellan of San Diego. She is the granddaughter of John F. Donnellan of Los Altos and Mrs. Ilona Schmidt of San Jose.

The bride is a graduate of Redwood High School, College of Marin and Bay City College in San Francisco. She is employed at Franciscan Laboratory in San Francisco.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Busnot of Pompano Beach, Fla. He is the brother of Phillipe Busnot of Pompano Beach.

Don attended Burlingame High School, California State University, San Francisco, and College of San Mateo. He is employed at Rhinelander Inn, Portland, Ore.

At the afternoon ceremony, the matron of honor was Mrs. Cynthia Brewer. Elizabeth Sutton of Petaluma was the bridesmaid. The best man was Charles Catania of San Bruno.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID BARRON LANTRIP

On a camping and sailing trip through the Hawaiian Islands are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. David Barron Lantrip. The former Constance Louise Stong is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth L. Stong of Tiburon. David is the son of Lester W. Lantrip of La Jolla. The couple was wed at Community Congregational Church in Tiburon. They will make their home in Port Hueneme.

Reservations for the luncheons may be made by calling the Art and Garden Center office.

Formation Of Status Of Women Group Eyed

An ad hoc committee to study the formation of a Status of Women Commission in Sonoma County was formed last week by the more than 60 women who attended the first study session on the proposed commission.

Ann Byrd of Santa Rosa, owner of a printing company, was named chairman. Elena Bjorkquist of Petaluma, an instructor of women's and ethnic studies at Santa Rosa Junior College, was named secretary of the ad hoc committee.

Two task forces were also formed at the meeting. Mary Samis of Santa Rosa, an affirmative action counselor with the People for Economic Opportunity, will chair a study group set up to survey women in the county on what they feel the priorities of the commission should be.

Helena Jackson, a Santa Rosa attorney, is heading the task force on formation of the ordinance to be presented to the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors later in the year.

The number of women attending the first study session was "pretty unusual," said Mrs. Bjorkquist, adding that that is a positive reaction to an "idea whose time has come."

A second public study session, including findings of the two task forces, will be held Aug. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Women's Center, 9595 Petaluma Hill Road, Penngrove.

Making Briquets

Charcoal briquets are made by converting forest industry byproducts under very high heat. They are then pulverized, mixed with other ingredients to improve quality, pressed hydraulically into pillow shapes, dried and packaged.

Jane Juliet Reelected By Planned Parenthood

Jane W. Juliet of San Rafael has been reelected president of the Planned Parenthood Auxiliary of Marin. She has been a member for four years and previously served as co chairman of fund raising.

Auxiliary membership is open to anyone interested in Planned Parenthood and supports the organization both educationally and through fund raising. The main fund raiser of the year is the Stitchery Faire held annually in April.

Mrs. Juliet, the wife of Paul H. Juliet, a stockbroker, is a native of Astoria, Ore., and attended the Roosevelt Hospital School of Nursing in New York City. She has lived in Marin four years and has a son, Bradley Robert Juliet, 3. Her hobbies are tennis, cooking, bicycling and volunteer nursing at the Planned Parenthood Clinic.

Other auxiliary officers are Mmes. Charles Bowman, vice president; Peter Wilhite, recording secretary; Peter Van Alyea, corresponding secretary; and Larry Wylie, treasurer. Committee chairmen are Mmes. James Neher, education; Mark Hudson, publicity; Jerrold Green, clinic liaison; Robert Settle and Richard Goldsmith, fund raising; and Phillip Lamoreaux, nominating.

Volleyball Games Set On Tuesdays

The Young Women's Christian Association will sponsor informal volleyball games every Tuesday from 6:30 p.m. until dark.

Games will be held at the YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

GENERATION RAP

Betty Crocker Coupons Help A Town's Dream Come True

DEAR READERS:

Thanks to your collection efforts, Galena, Alaska, now has several million Betty Crocker coupons toward its much-needed high school gymnasium. The goal is 20 million by August, 1975, so keep 'em coming! Mailing address for coupons: Galena Sports Association, Box 64, Galena, Alaska, 99741.

Many of you have asked for the background story on this little village with big ideas:

It all started with a letter from a school official:

"I'm sitting here looking out the window at a group of young boys trying to play basketball on the school playgrounds," he wrote. "All things considered, they are doing pretty well. They don't have too much trouble shooting — it's only when they try to dribble and run around. . .

"You see, the basketball court is snow-covered from September through mid-May, when temperatures are anywhere from 30 to 60 below zero. Our children — our townspeople too — need a gymnasium, but school money isn't available. . ."

And so the Galena Sports Association decided to collect Betty Crocker Coupons — $100,000 is promised by General Mills in exchange for 20 million, and already more than one-tenth of that amount has been sent by readers of GENERATION RAP and HELEN HELP US!

Galena is a primarily Athabascan Indian village on the banks of the Yukon, midway between Fairbanks and Nome. Most of its people still hunt, trap and fish to live. The village is accessible only by air in the winter and by air and riverboat in the short summer months.

While town population is no more than 450, Galena School (kindergarten through grade 12) draws students from settlements within a radius of 100 miles. More than 150 students attend and would make use of the gym.

Since we publicized Galena's drive this spring, coupons have been pouring in daily. With your continued help, we're quite sure "the little village with big ideas" can become "The Little Village That Could!" — HELEN AND SUE

RAP:

I live in a small town where all the prices are going up and up —except baby-sitting fees.

Right now, it takes me 24 hours of baby-sitting — at 50 cents an hour — to make enough money to buy a top. I could never earn enough for a formal unless I saved up for a year.

Minimum wage is legally much more. Why don't baby-sitters organize and ask to be covered by that law? Trouble is I can't afford to turn down jobs, and I'm afraid to ask more money because they'll hire a younger girl who is satisfied with the pay.

SITTER:

Your town is certainly behind times: baby-sitting rates are closer to a dollar an hour in most parts of the country — and this doesn't include extra pay for house cleaning, after-midnight hours or multiple kids. — SUE

DEAR SITTER:

Why not get together with other baby-sitters in your town and establish minimum rates? You'll be surprised how fast the word gets around — and how few "scabs" will try to undercut you. Start organizing! — HELEN

Ross Girl Wins Award From Union

Rachel Miller of Ross is one of two first place winners in the 11th annual scholarship competition of Operating Engineers Local Union Three, which covers much of the West.

A recent graduate of Redwood High School, Rachel is the daughter of Francis Miller of Ross. Her late father, Seymour Miller, was a member of the local construction union, which prompted her to apply for the $500 scholarship.

Chosen on the basis of scholastic achievement and her extra curricular record, Rachel was a straight A student at Redwood. She is a lifetime member of the California Scholarship Federation, a member of the Redwood Honor Society, received a Bank of America award in laboratory science and was a finalist in the St. Mary's math competition.

Her student activities included editor and feature page editor of the school newspaper, membership on the Student Advisory Board of the Tamalpais High School District Board of Trustees, the Model United Nations and math club and math team.

She plans to study statistics at Yale University.

DESIGN FOR PEOPLE

Putting Personality Into A Room

By EMILY MALINO
(Distributed by United Features Syndicate)

For the longest time, maybe 100 years or more, since the Industrial Revolution mechanized the furniture industry, folks have bought furniture in matched suites rather than acquiring it piece by piece over the generations. This loving accumulation, in days gone by, produced rooms with real individuality, stamped with the passage of time and wear.

True, this hand-me-down furniture might not meet the camera requirements of today's shelter magazines, but it had a personality most rooms lack. Matched suites are still popular; it's easier for the salesman to sell a packaged deal and the customers don't have to think, but what a bore it is at home.

Finding unmatched pieces that look right together is more demanding; it takes a bit of planning and a lot of imagination, but it will be much more fun.

In a living room, for instance, there is no reason why you must have a sofa, two matching chairs, two end tables and a coffee table. There's no one ready to shoot you if you decide to use unmatched chairs in your dining room. And you definitely won't be dropped from the Social List if everything in your bedroom doesn't come off the same assembly line.

Unmatched and mixed are two new words in decorating, but they have already become the hallmark of personality decorating. For many folks this is a bit frightening; it's hard to imagine a room created from bits and pieces.

However, if you apply the same basic guidelines of scale and balance and rhythm to unmatched furniture, you can produce a room that is as beautiful as it is unique.

Take a bedroom, for example. I designed one for a teenage girl who fell madly in love with an art deco chrome bed. Using this as the centerpiece of the room, I bought a modern Parsons table in lacquer, for use as a night table that doubles as a desk and combined it with a molded plastic chair for hard work and hard wear.

Garden Clubs Day Will Be July 18

A crazy glove contest and the naming of the gardener of the year will highlight the ninth annual Garden Clubs Day at the Sonoma County Fair and Exposition July 18.

Sponsored by the fair board and the Luther Burbank District, California Garden Clubs, Inc., Garden Day, which will begin at 12:30 p.m., will include luncheon and entertainment as well as prizes for the most beautiful and most ridiculously decorated garden gloves, using only fresh plant material.

Newlyweds Living In San Anselmo

Sandy Hall and Sheldon Friedman, both of San Anselmo, were married June 28 at the Marin County Civic Center.

The couple was attended by the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Howard and Nancy Friedman of Petaluma.

Sandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hall of Nicasio, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Friedman of Flushing, N.Y.

The newlyweds are living in San Anselmo and plan a wedding trip next month to Canada and New York.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and is employed by Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael. Tom and Ron Hall of Nicasio are her brothers, and she is the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Rogers of Petaluma and Mrs. Alice Hall of Point Reyes Station.

The bridegroom attended City College of San Francisco and is employed by Optical Sciences Group in San Rafael. Joel Friedman of New York is also his brother, and he is the grandson of Freida Bell of New York.

Margaret Gibson Will Preside Over Business Women's Session

Margaret Gibson of Mill Valley will preside tomrrow at her first meeting as president of the Marin Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. The meeting at the Holiday Inn in San Rafael will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner.

Miss Gibson has been a member of the association since 1972 and has served as corresponding secretary and bulletin editor. During her presidency, she said, she plans to strive for a year of hard work balanced with fun, thereby making it possible to raise scholarship money for women to pursue an education in their chosen fields.

Since 1954 Miss Gibson has been employed by the Control Branch of the Air Force Western Regional Civil Engineers.

Speakers at the association's meeting will be staff members of the Vocational Counseling Services for Women, Anne Kracha, Sarah Levine and Sheila Butler. The counseling service assists women in their 40s and 50s who want to return to work or find new positions in other areas of employment.

Other officers of the association are Mrs. Barbara Henderson of San Rafael, vice president; Lore Bonsoni of Mill Valley, recording secretary; Mrs. Virginia E. Tozer of San Anselmo, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Marie Rivers of San Rafael, treasurer.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Linda Ellen Bussman Weds William Glass

By MOLLY MARIN

LINDA ELLEN Bussman of Petaluma, the daughter of Mrs. Robert Bussman of Stockton and William James Glass of Novato, were married at the Presbyterian Church of Novato on June 1.

Linda was graduated from Novato High School and College of Marin. She is employed at the office of the Marin County Superintendent of Schools in Corte Madera. She is the sister of Robert P. W. Bussman of Forest Knolls and Catherine Bussman of Stockton.

The bridegroom is the son of William Glass of San Rafael and Mrs. Leslie E. Wider of Novato. He was graduated from Novato High School and College of Marin. He is employed with the Marin County Fire Department. Robert is the brother of Mrs. John Hogue of Lynwood, Wash., Judy Riddelle of Novato and Nancy Glass of Mora, Minn.

ST. ELIZABETH'S Summer Chapel in Guerneville was the setting for the June 15 nuptials uniting in marriage Colleen Ann Weber and Jon Moreno, both of Novato.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weber of Novato and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jurado of Ignacio.

Both are graduates of Novato High School. She attended Indian Valley Colleges, and he attended College of Marin.

Sea Ranch People:

Captain Crangle's schooner got swallowed by the sea off The Sea Ranch coast in 1886. So the Captain "swallowed the anchor" and settled down five miles north of The Sea Ranch to enjoy the comfort and charm of North Coast life.

The comfort and charm are still there. And if your love of the sea is combined with a strong appreciation of the land, it could be you're a Sea Ranch person too.

We now have many properties available, including forest and ocean view sites outside the permit zone, and new ocean view homes with several floor plans. Come join us—and meet some Sea Ranch people this weekend!

DECAGON — This 10-sided acrylic painting by Peggy Fritsch expands its form with intersecting fan-shaped planes in various colors. Titled "Aperture," it is on view at the Genesis Gallery in Mill Valley together with the works of featured artists Genna Panzarello, Mai Reese and Hjordes Wright.

ART REVIEW

Three Attists Are Featured In Genesis Gallery Exhibits

By ADA GARFINKEL

Best described as a mixed vintage, the exhibit by three featured artists at Mill Valley's Genesis Gallery presents its most developed offerings in the work of Genna Panzarello.

Mrs. Panzarello's oil paintings on plywood panels allow the stained grain of the raw wood to become part of her overall design.

Most of her subjects are figurative — portraits of children at play, men and women embracing or engaged in spirited dancing.

"Running Through Rainbows" emphasizes a state of elation, while "African Op," stained monochromatically in brown, is a scene of zebras in motion, their stripes flowing into and melding with the amoebic shapes of the grains of the wood.

The paintings of Mai Reese span a broad range of time of execution and application of her medium.

"Forest Abstractions," an early oil painting, is thickly scumbled with palette-knife slashings in turquoise, blue, white and black. Its tactile vigor contrasts greatly with the delicacy of "African Impressions," a two-part painting whose apricot-hued sky, applied in a thin wash, evokes the glow of intense heat.

Mrs. Reese's most effective paintings are her watercolors, "Rainy Day," "Spring Flight" and "Spring Moonlight." Their vibrancy is generated by rocket-like spurts of black pigment darting and trailing on rainbow-hued grounds.

The ruggedness of "Queen's Garden, Bryce Canyon" is made convincing with scratchiness of colored marking pens in terra cotta, lavender, and yellow.

This show will close on July 29. It may be seen until then on weekdays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays. The Genesis Gallery is located at 2 Miller Avenue on the second floor.

Calley's Duties At Leavenworth

FT. LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (UPI) — Former Army Lt. William Calley has been assigned to help other inmates soon to be released from the U.S. disciplinary barracks while he awaits a judge's decision on his own release.

Calley's aptitude tests since entering the military prison June 26 put him in the section for inmate job placement as a clerk-typist.

A federal appeals court ordered him to begin serving his sentence at Ft. Leavenworth for his conviction in the May Lai Massacre, while a federal judge in Columbus, Ga., considers his appeal to have the conviction reversed.

"His work is a little more than a clerk-typist," information officer Don Peters said yesterday.

Equipment Taken From Music Studio

Thieves broke into the Redwood High School music studio yesterday morning and took stereo and other electrical equipment valued at $2,499, Larkspur police reported today.

Police said the thieves entered the studio sometime between 12:45 and 10:55 a.m. by prying open a window. The thieves also tried to pry open two other windows but neither could be opened far enough to permit entry and tried to pry open the studio door, police said.

Ehrlichman Denies Any Illegal Actions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman today said an array of government evidence about memos, meetings and telephone calls in no way conflicts with his denial of having prior knowledge of the Ellsberg break-in.

During intensive cross-examination that included verbal bouts with U.S. Attorney William H. Merrill, Ehrlichman insisted he thought a planned "covert" investigation of Daniel Ellsberg did not involve any illegal activity.

Merrill reviewed a stack of memos about Ehrlichman's contacts with David R. Young and Egil Krogh, co-directors of the White House "plumbers" unit, concerning a project seeking a psychiatric profile of Ellsberg that might explain his release of the secret Pentagon Papers.

Ehrlichman repeatedly denied having any recollection of making a telephone call on July 7, 1971, asking CIA deputy director Robert E. Cushman Jr. to provide help for White House plumber E. Howard Hunt Jr., who later got a wig, camera, false identification and voice changer from the CIA.

When Cushman telephoned Ehrlichman on Aug. 27, 1971, to complain that Hunt was going too far with his requests, Ehrlichman testified, he still did not suspect that the project covered anything illegal.

"The nature of the (Hunt's) requests were so bizarre, excessive and out of the ordinary they didn't match up with what I thought he was supposed to be doing," Ehrlichman said.

Ehrlichman testified for the second day of his trial of conspiring to organize the break-in at the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist over Labor Day weekend, 1971, and of later lying three times to investigators about it. Three others were also on trial on the conspiracy counts.

After Ehrlichman finished his testimony, William Treadwell, an attorney who briefly represented Krogh, said Krogh and Young told him Ehrlichman did not know of the burglary in advance.

"Did either (Krogh or Young) ever tell you that Ehrlichman had prior knowledge of the break-in or approved the break-in before it occurred?" asked Andrew C. Hall, one of Ehrlichman's four lawyers.

"No, they didn't," Treadwell replied. "They told me he had no prior knowledge and did not authorize it."

Merrill questioned Ehrlichman repeatedly about a series of documents and memos including one in which Young proposed that White House aide Charles Colson be required to draw up a "game plan" specifying what public use would be made of psychiatric information learned about Ellsberg.

Ehrlichman denied he had removed any documents from White House files despite Young's testimony that memos characterized as "too sensitive" by Ehrlichman later turned up in impounded White House files but not in boxes containing records of the Plumber's operations.

"The file they were in was not my file," Ehrlichman said.

Jurors Told They Face Long Lockup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Judge John J. Sirica today advised all prospective jurors for the September term in U.S. District Court —the period scheduled for the Watergate cover-up trial —that they may be sequestered for "about three months."

The Watergate cover-up defendants include former Attorney General John N. Mitchell, and former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Sirica made the estimate in a side letter which accompanied summons for jury service sent out by the U.S. marshal's office.

"You may be called upon to sit as a juror in a criminal trial tentatively scheduled to commence before me in early September," Sirica wrote. "It is estimated the case will take about three months; however, it could take less or more time.

"The court will require that the jury be sequestered because the case is expected to create a large amount of publicity."

The letter adds that jurors will be housed in sleeping and living quarters provided by the court, meals will be furnished by the government and other efforts will be made to assure the jurors' comfort.

Sirica said the jurors will be allowed "to read newspapers and look at television, except where matters relating to the case are presented."

Girl, 9, Wins Spot On Team

DENVER (UPI) — Anne Marie Sanquist has won — by forfeit — the battle to play baseball for the all-boy Most Precious Blood Catholic Church Tigers.

The 9-year-old won a starting position as second baseman when the Catholic Youth Recreation Association said it didn't have the money to fight a district judge's injunction allowing Anne-Marie to play and reinstating coach Mike Ousley who was fired for allowing her on the team in the first place.

5-Year-Old Streaks; Wins Dad Records

OCEAN CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Apparently looking for a little excitement, WSLT radio announcer Bob Everland told listeners Sunday the first streaker to run through his studio would win five new record albums.

Century Policies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Kemper Life Insurance companies have announced two new term life insurance policies which are renewable until age 100. The policies have to be started before the insured reaches the age of 70 and can be converted to other types of life insurance until age 80.

Unhappy Birthday, U.S. Postal Service

The United States Postal Service is now three years old. This is an anniversary that should not be allowed to pass unnoticed.

The USPS is a government corporation, run by a postmaster general who is hired by a board of directors appointed by the president. It was set up this way, we were told on its creation by Congress back in 1971 to "take it out of politics."

The contention was that political partisanship in postmaster appointments, and congressional meddling, made an efficient, self-sufficient mail service impossible. Take it out of politics, give it a "business administration," and — so the argument went — the postal system would be able to pay its own way and provide better service.

So the "independent corporation" was created. The board was appointed, and named Elmer T. Klassen, a can company executive, as postmaster general.

THAT WAS THREE years ago. It cost six cents to mail a letter, parcel post rates had recently been hiked, the post office was "in the red," and there were numerous complaints about poor service.

Now it costs 10 cents to mail a letter, parcel post rates are so high as to be prohibitive for mailing many articles, second-class rates have been hiked and are going up more — thus killing off many periodicals, and the postal system is farther "in the red" than ever. As to those complaints of poor service, the volume three years ago has since been far exceeded. If it has done nothing else, the USPS has set a record for customer complaints.

For a specific example, read Ernest Murphy's "Reporter's Notebook" on the opposite page.)

Klassen (or whoever writes his public statements) noted the USPS' third birthday with a claim that it "has improved the speed and reliability of mail service, launched a massive plant modernization program, and significantly increased productivity, while stabilizing its work force."

SORRY, MR. KLASSEN, but saying it doesn't make it so.

Rep. H.R. Gross, R-Iowa, points out that last year's $2 billion deficit for USPS "is about the same as the cost overruns for the entire period between fiscal 1946 and 1971 . . . In just one year the new postal service is costing the taxpayers as much as the old post office operation cost them in 25 years."

The post office used to talk about the number of days required to deliver a letter various distances. USPS talks about the "number of working days" — thus tacitly admitting a slow-up of which all who use the mails (and that's just about everybody) is well aware.

Although the work force has been "stabilized," the payroll has risen 40 per cent. Part of this, as columnist Jack Anderson is fond of pointing out, is because Klassen has padded the payroll with numerous friends and cronies at salaries higher than are paid the top career employees from the old Post Office Department.

WE NEVER understood why the post office, alone among government services, was supposed to pay its own way. But that was a major goal in creating the USPS. Three years with it show — as Representative Gross's figures make plain — that USPS is as far from doing that as it is from improving the mail service.

When something doesn't work, it should be junked.

Sewer Connections Granted In Secret?

I find it improper for the City of Mill Valley, together with its City Council to be in control of the 1,479 sewer connections awarded to them by the Regional Water Quality Control Board. Furthermore, for the City of Mill Valley to have reserved or committed all but 350, prior to the time that the sewer ban was lifted on July 1, 1974.

My understanding was that no sewer connections had been issued during the sewer ban, and if sewer connections were issued during this time secretly, this amounts to fraud. Inasmuch as I belong to the Almonte Sanitary District, I had to go through the County Planning Department which refused to accept a building plan from me as long as the sewer ban existed. Therefore, why should it be any different for the City of Mill Valley, to issue sewer connections during the sewer ban, just because they had their own planning department, while my project was frozen on the County level in dealing with the Marin County Planning Dept.

I therefore ask the Board of Supervisors to protect my interest of 16 years of ownership. I do not believe that the Alpha-Beta Thrifty Shopping Center in Alto Bowl is an owner for 16 years.

Thanking you for your attention in this matter, I remain,

JOHN K. HOFER, JR.

No Evidence Found Against President

After two years of ineffectual, useless and trifling endeavor in their efforts to prove that President Nixon instigated Watergate, the Select Congressional Committee of Ervin, Talmadge, Montoya and Inouye, four members of the Democratic party; Baker, Weicker and Gurney, three members of the Republican party, and, at a cost of two millions dollars of the tax payers money (a tax payer worked 165 days in 1973 to pay his taxes and in 1974 is working 2½ hours every day to pay his taxes) the Watergate Select Committee has passed into limbo, the abode of those who are presumed sinless, yet are denied the reward of their endeavor, hence oblivion.

Set up to render a decision, based on information received thru the interrogation, under oath, of various knowledgeable witnesses, thirty nine witnesses more or less, testified that President Nixon did not have knowledge of the break-in and only one testified that he did have knowledge. A not guilty decision should have been evident. However, it came to light that tape recordings may have been made of conversations between the aides indicated in the affair, and the President. The Committee saw this as a means to postpone the making of a decision and to prolong the investigation. So what if it cost the taxpayers two million dollars. As members of a "do nothing Congress we will do nothing and perhaps the tapes will get us off the "hook and make our decision for us.

The Watergate Select Committee report will soon be published. You may be sure the following United Press International coverage of an extemporaneous speech printed in the New York Daily News, March 12, 1974, will not be included:

"Cleveland (UPI) — No evidence was produced in the Senate Watergate hearings to support impeachment of President Nixon, Watergate Committee Chairman Senator Sam Ervin (D.-N.C.) said Sunday.

As an admission of their inability to cope, and abdicating of its responsibilities, the Watergate Committee proposed a non-partisan assemblage of constitutional scholars to delineate the broad philosophical background against which the legal staff of the Committee must operate in drafting of the final report, an action bordering on the realization that the legitimacy of the Executive Branch of our Government is paramount in the lives of the governed.

Vice President Ford Eating His Way Into White House

WASHINGTON — Vice President Gerald R. Ford has eaten his way in seven months through more miles of creamed chicken and peas in patty shells than any political figure in recent times. The record is heroic — 175 formal speeches, a total of 215 if everything including those "few brief remarks" is included.

At times he is above the political battle, as when he spoke at a Foreign Service Association luncheon commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Rogers Act creating the service. But day after day he is out on the hustings rallying the Republican troops who have fallen back in dispirited disarray.

As proof of his courage he is going into the districts likely to be toughest for the Republicans in November. One of his aides remarked that they should surely give him a break now and then by scheduling him to speak for a candidate with a better than even chance to be elected.

OUT OF RECENT political history there is a striking parallel that says a lot for the future. When he was out of office following his defeat for governor of California, Richard Nixon, beginning in 1966, went into congressional districts all over the country to speak. Practicing law in New York with his partner, John N. Mitchell, he drove himself at a furious pace, often setting out on a Friday afternoon for a week end of barnstorming.

Laying up capital in the political bank, he had sufficient delegates locked up long before the Republican convention of 1968 opened in Miami Beach. This came as a cruel shock to his chief opponent, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

With the same cultivation of the men and women who run the party, the vice president is accumulating a tidy political capital that can be drawn on in 1976. No candidate now on the horizon has anything like this advantage.

FORD INSISTS at every opportunity that he will not be a candidate for the presidency or any other office come '76. That is a proper public posture. In private he is wholly realistic. He knows that a draft is inevitable if circumstances are roughly the same two years from now as they are today.

To even hit at personal ambition would be to change the perspective. He would no longer be the good guy, Mr. Stalwart, coming to the aid of the party in its dire strait.

While he has sometimes seemed to waver on Watergate and the predicament of the president, he has thus far not put a foot wrong. One reason is that he relies on demountable platitudes good for all seasons.

One thing at this stage looks certain. If he were to inherit the office through the resignation or the impeachment of the president, the Republican convention would renominate Ford by acclamation. And the widely held view today is that he would be re-elected on his own to a full four-year term.

ENTER MR. CLEAN untarnished by even a trace of the Watergate scandals and at the same time loyal to his party and his president. The analogy with Calvin Coolidge, who took over after the death of Warren Harding and Teapot Dome, has some resemblance to the Ford-Nixon scenario. Silent Cal was aided by the fact that the Democrats in 1924 tore themselves to pieces in fratricidal warfare.

Thirsting for the Nixon scalp, as most Democrats are, a few have second thoughts about the consequences of putting Ford into the office. He might be there, granted that he inherits the presidency soon, not for just six years but perhaps for 10 years. It is a sobering thought to the ambitious in the opposition.

On balance, the vice president is probably more conservative than the president. In the past he has been decidedly hawkish. At a guess he would be less likely than Nixon to stand up to the Joint Chiefs of Staff on nuclear arms limitation, if only because he is less experienced and less knowledgeable.

With his 26 years in the House of Representatives, 10 as minority leader, he has a canny understanding of political trends. He took due note the other day of a Louis Harris poll that showed how Gov. George Wallace of Alabama had risen in popular esteem as a man of integrity. But the last paragraph in particular caught his eye. In trial heats with Ford, the Alabama governor finished on the down side, 55 to 36.

Grand Jury Report Shows Outside Pressure, Intrigue

This is the first of five comments on the consultant's report to the Grand Jury regarding "Management Process" in the administration building out at Brasilia.

For the information of those taxpayers who may have been away over the holidays, here is a recap of my credentials as given last Friday by the editor: On Dec. 31, 1964, I finished 38 years of public service — nine years on San Anselmo City Council (seven of them as Mayor) — seven years as executive director of Marvelous Marin, with office in the courthouse —22 years as supervisor.

Following that I have spent over nine and one-half years writing a weekly column on county government for the Independent-Journal. This adds up to almost half a century during which, like with anyone, a soaking up of knowledge in the field results. You might say I have become a specialist in it.

This is being stressed because I am going to ask, in your behalf, that the author or authors of the report do likewise. It is customary for anyone applying for a management, or similar position, to furnish a resume. It takes more than hanging out a shingle to qualify as a consultant or any other such occupation. The resume should be in detail. Later on you will see why I am taking this position, for you.

Please believe that I have the highest respect and admiration for this present jury. They have been a hard working group of citizens performing their civic duties.

Let's talk about the report, itself, for a moment. Over the years I have read a lot of them. It is a tough job. We have had far too many, now gathering dust someplace. Your money was spent for them as was this one — $20,000.

It seems like a fair question to ask, "How many of the jurors read it through before endorsing it and presenting it as their own thoughts?" I have read it and read it (50 some pages). Believe me it's a corker. I have written and re-written my comments trying to find the best way to alert you as to what is going on.

You see if this isn't thoroughly approved in every detail by the members of the jury, we are faced with the opinion or borrowed opinion of someone, neither elected by you nor approved by you.

There is one thing that must be emphasized. A grave injustice has been done to the elected department heads — the people who, with their devoted assistants, have been serving you extremely well.

This whole report smells of pressure and influence by the appointive administrative satellites of the throne room. There is intrigue going on all the time. This is well known by close observers. In addition to that, there is a well organized county administrators group working across the nation to remove you farther and farther from your local government. They have a well organized and put together publication (a newspaper).

There is an immutable law of nature that everything has within itself the power to destroy itself. Well, this document of theirs has just that. I am thinking strongly that with the high degree of intelligence of you folks, it may be well to turn thier own dogs against them. You would be surprised how they have stumbled into that position.

If I can't spread this out completely in five days, I will continue it on each Friday until you have it all.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Tax-Paid Staffs Used For Political Purposes

By EARL G. WATERS

In their effort to close the door on campaign abuses, the proponents of Proposition 9 on the June primary ballot overlooked one of the worst abuses, which has been steadily growing the past few years.

That is the use of taxpayers' money by legislators to finance, not only their own campaigns, but those of other candidates.

With the proliferation of legislative aides, the lawmakers now have available to them the services of more than 1,700 employees. Were these necessary to the proper function of the legislature there could be no objection. But the evidence is that the staff far exceeds that essential to legislative business. Many are being used to further the political aspirations of the individual members, and others are being paid to further the efforts of the political parties, Republicans as well as Democrats.

FOR A LEGISLATOR to employ an aide at state expense to engage in campaign activities in his own behalf is bad enough. But when the state-paid aides are used to campaign against another member or in behalf of party-selected candidates, it is far beyond the pale of legitimate conduct.

No law has ever been enacted authorizing the spending of tax dollars in the promotion of any election or any candidate. To the contrary, laws have been specifically passed prohibiting such expenditures. Obviously the laws are not sufficient and the penalities for violations are lacking.

Lawmakers cannot deny that the employees are being used in campaigns, because they are no longer bothering to hide the fact. Just last week, in a special election to fill a Senate vacanty in the Ventura-Santa Barbara district, a memorandum was issued by Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, chairman of the Senate Democratic Caucus, calling for help in behalf of the Democratic senatorial candidate. It asked the Democratic members of the Senate to "put money, staff, or anything else of value into this campaign."

Questioned, Petris contended the request for "staff" was a mistake and said he was immediately rescinding that part of the letter. His explanation of why the contributions and requests for details should be channeled through his office and why Daniel Visnich, caucus staff director was involved, was vague.

THE SENATE DEMOCRATS have employed a staff of at least 12 persons specifically to deal in partisan matters. These are paid salaries as high as $27,000 just to politic. The Republicans aren't hollering, because they, too, have the same number of employes, paid the same amounts of money, to engage in the same kind of political activities.

That the party caucus staffs constitute an improper expenditure of taxpayers' money, performing functions which are the responsibilities of the state central committees, is not debatable. That it is interfering with the free election of candidates is already established. It was not by mere coincidence that the two nominees for lieutenant governor are Senators Mervyn Dymally and John Harmer. Each was chairman of his own party caucus when he launched his campaign for the nomination.

And if the Senate's political spending of more than $600,000 annually in direct support of party political activity seems bad, one should look at what has been going on in the Assembly. Not only does it have its party caucus staffs, but there is a large staff known as the "Office of Research" which, under Speaker Moretti, was used for political purposes, as was the large staff employed by the speaker which was used in his campaign for governor.

It's Hard To Find Heroes In This Age Of Television

(Reprinted from the Tulsa (Oklahoma Daily World)

WHERE HAVE all the heroes gone?

KEITH BERWICK, who is writing a book on American heroes, says that question was asked of some touring speakers repeatedly in the small cities of Western United States. It does make one stop and consider the present state of heroism.

As we look back, we think of the giants of our past — Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and others who have shaped our nation. It has been a long time since we have produced anyone of that stature. Is an erosion of character to blame, or can we fault the times for giving us fewer candidates for Mount Rushmore?

We can find several answers, and certainly one of them is that the times are different. Berwick quotes historian Daniel J. Boorstin: "Two centuries ago when a great man appeared people looked for God's purpose in him; today we look for his press agent."

This is a commentary on the practice of turning men of heroic deeds into mere "celebrities." Something rubs off an astronaut when he becomes a television huckster. Too often an outstanding general loses his luster when he runs for office and shows his non-military face.

Perhaps the biggest reason is that the expansion of the mass media has permitted us to know our heroes too well. It is easier to admire from afar than to have every side of a public figure's personality, character and background brought into our homes on an almost intimate level.

We wonder if Washington or Jefferson could have sustained his image for the ages if he had been subjected to the intense examination by the news agencies that today's heroes must face. Just as television, for example, has brought wars and other major events right into our living rooms, so have the media focused a relentless, probing light on every person of public prominence. Without exception these "heroes" prove to have warts and weaknesses.

A public that is exposed to all this coverage is better informed, but it is also more skeptical, less ready to accept greatness on faith. And we have seen too many high-standing persons who turned out to have feet of clay. We are almost afraid to revere anyone for fear he will prove to be human.

The old saying told us that heroes are born, not made. Nowadays it seems they are more likely to be unmade. It's tough to find one — even tougher to be one.

WILL ROGERS SAYS . . .

"Say, did you know they arrested a girl here in Hollywood the other day? She was driving down our main thoroughfare with nothing on but a heavy tan, not a stitch. A modern Lady Godiva, this. But that lady had a horse, and she had a mane longer than the horse's. But this one here the other day didn't even have the advantage of long hair and she had traded her horse for a roadster.

"Course, this is all from hearsay. I would miss it. I think they let her go, for it's awful hard to tell when a woman in nude nowadays, and when she is fully clothed.

"And if the worst comes to the worst, she could always say it was an evening dress." — July 27, 1930.

Latest Postal Service Advance: Pick Up Mail At Post Office

Rohnert Park is what the U.S. Postal Service calls a "developing city."

As it relates to people who live there, that means the postal service can establish ways of cutting corners because there are no precedents to cite.

Take mail delivery, for instance. Everyone has heard how the postal service is increasing mail charges almost continually in an effort to pay for itself.

For all the money it must be making, the postal service must be providing better service because that's supposed to be its main job, right?

Not in Rohnert Park.

IN THE COUNTRY CLUB Estates subdivision, one of the newer sections of this predominately new city, residents have no home mail delivery whatsoever — they must drive about three miles to the Cotati Post Office for their correspondence.

The subdivision has that desolate look of a new tract development — hardly any vegetation, no lawns. And there are no street signs.

The street signs are the Catch-22 which has prevented mail delivery.

It's postal service has a nifty policy which states that all new housing developments will be equipped with rural style curbside boxes rather than house-mounted ones.

This is because the postal service has calculated that it is inefficient and uneconomical to deliver to house-mounted boxes in areas where lots are more than 50 feet wide and houses are more than 30 feet from the street. Country Club Estates doesn't meet guideline No. 1 above, and so it's just too bad for the poeple who live there. (They don't get a reduction in mailing fees to compensate for the lack of mail delivered to their door.)

THE LACK of street signs complicates the situation further.

Forhim Corp., which built the subdivision, says it has ordered signs from one of the two companies in the nation which manufacture them. Since there are so many orders for so few sign companies, the delays are long.

So like the proverbial laundryman ("No tickee no washee"), the postal service has decided no signs mean no mail.

AND THERE'S YET another hassle — the Rohnert Park City Council has on the books an ordinance prohibiting the curbside mailboxes which the postal service insists upon. The council thinks they are unesthetic for much the same reason most people think telephone poles are more unsightly than underground wires.

The council has protested to the postal service, which has answered that curbside delivery will be used anyway despite the feelings of the locals (what do they know about running a postal system anyway?) because curbside delivery is "a new concept designed to make the post office a break-even proposition," as a local postal official explained.

There you have it. The United States Postal Service will go broke if it lets the 35 or so households in the new Rohnert Park subdivision get away with having mail dropped at their front doors.

Someday, the postal service hopes, everybody will have to go to the curb for their mail, and if the people in Rohnert Park think they can buck the United States Government they have another think coming.

ADD IT ALL UP — the never-ending rate increases, the destruction of some of the nation's favorite mass-circulation magazines (they couldn't afford the high mailing rates), the inept procedures which very often make a letter from down the block take longer to arrive than a letter from across the country, the reduction in delivery service.

It's a clear case of what happens when paper-shuffling mentalities are allowed to run amok.

Whatever became of the idea of service?

Oh, it's still there. The postal service, like a bunch of self-congratulating hick merchants in a Sinclair Lewis novel, has come up with a vapid slogan which it pastes all over post offices: "People Serving You."

Real Problem In Football Strike: Men Vs. Automation

WASHINGTON — As if the United States did not have enough trouble, the National Football League players have gone out on strike, and there is a possibility that none of the veterans will be there for the kickoff in the fall.

Although the disputed issues have to do with wages, discipline, and the power of the football commissioner, the main problem is automation.

A PROFESSIONAL football player, Bronco Beaulandovich, told me: "The owners are trying to cut down the number of men on the field. They maintain you don't need 11 men on a side to play a game. They claim they now have computers that can kick, pass and block in one-tenth the time it now takes a man to do it. But what they don't say is that if you cut down the number of men on a team you run great safety risks. A computer can't protect a quarterback like a human being.

"The football owners are trying to save money on the payroll at the expense of our jobs. We're not going to stand for it. The rules say you have to have 11 men on a side and we're going to stick by it."

Horace Maldabeth, a football owner who has been negotiating the contract, told me: "There has been too much featherbedding on football teams, and it is no longer economically feasible to maintain all those players on the field. We've done studies to show that the guards can be easily replaced by machines. The ends do nothing but stand around all day, and the football union refuses to let tackles touch the ball. Unless we use new technical methods and update the job rules, we can't stay in business."

MALDABETH SHOWED me a computer that was programmed to do almost everything a player could. "We can put one of these at each goal line and play a full hour's game in 10 minutes. These computers can produce twice as many touchdowns, fumbles and intercepted passes as any team in the league. Why should we keep men on the payroll when they add nothing to the game?"

"But don't computers take some fun out of the game?" I asked.

"Possibly, but our concern is profits. How can we explain to our stockholders that we are paying 11 players when five could do the job?"

Maldabeth continued, "Don't forget, we're not talking only about the 11 men on the field. There are also 29 on the bench doing absolutely nothing. No football team can afford to have 29 players sitting on their duffs hiding their heads under blankets."

"AREN'T THE PLAYERS worried about job security?"

"We're willing to work that out. We will guarantee the union that no active player will be fired from his job because of automation. But if he gets injured or plays out his contract, then he cannot be replaced by another man. I can't think of anything fairer."

Maldabeth said that he wasn't thinking just of the players but the fans as well. "Football costs are skyrocketing, and if they continue, we may have to eliminate a quarter of the game. By automating, we are guaranteeing the best possible contest at the best possible price. If we can give the fans a good game with five men on each team, I think we will have made a great contribution to the sport."

I WENT BACK to Bronco Beaulandovich, the players' representative, and told him what Maldabeth had siad. "That's a bunch of pigskin," he said.

"Computers or no computers, I ain't going to send no guy out on the field unless he has 10 men to protect him. We've been playing football by hand for 79 years and we ain't about to do it different now."

Tiburon Manager Gets Big Raise

The Tiburon City Council last night approved almost a 17 per cent salary increase for its city manager and voted an 8.2 per cent cost-of-living increase for other city employees.

The total cost of the raises in the 1974-75 budget will be $40,000, City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said.

The council justified giving him the $3,400 increase in his present salary of $20,200 because he was hired last year at a lower rate than the previous city manager until he could prove himself in his new post.

"In all the time I've lived here," said Councilman Allan N. Littman, "I don't think we've ever had anyone as able or as conscientious as Bob as city manager."

The council also said it wants to encourage Kleinert to move to Tiburon from San Rafael by means of a housing stipend. Councilmen asked him to report back with a proposal for giving him either a monthly housing allowance or for having the city lend him money for a house at a lower-than-market rate of interest.

The council last night also began discussing the capital improvements section of its 1974-75 budget. Kleinert is proposing improvements costing $830,700, including using $500,000 in open space bond issue money for city ridgelands.

A total city budget of about $1.7 million has been proposed which also includes operating expenses for the city of $781,814 and $82,394 for redemption of open space bonds.

Kleinert told the council last night that he was not sure what the city's tax rate would be but estimated that it would reach about 91 cents per $100 assessed valuation, an increase of 7 cents from last year's rate of 84 cents.

State law limits all tax rates to no more than those of the 1971-72 fiscal year, except when authorized by a vote of the people. Tiburon voters in 1972 authorized an increase when they approved the city's $1.25 million open space bond issue.

Crete Military Head Closes Newspaper

CHANEA, Crete (UPI) — The military commander of Crete yesterday ordered the newspaper Ethniki Phoni (National Voice) shut down for six months, a spokesman for the newspaper said.

The publisher and editor of Ethniki Phoni were given a suspended six-month jail term by a military court in June for publishing an article criticizing the military regime that has governed Greece for the past seven years.

The Tiburon City Council also:

INSURANCE — Authorized spending of up to $10,500 to contract with Levinson Brothers brokerage for liability and property insurance coverage for the city.

SUBSTANDARD LOT — Denied the appeal of Edward F. Dowd to split a parcel at 4643 Paradise Drive into two substandard size lots.

HEIGHT — Amended the part of the zoning ordinance governing the heights of buildings. The amendment specifies from what point the height of buildings shall be measured.

DOGS — Asked the city manager to report back on the amount of dog control enforcement done in the city by the Humane Society.

TAXIS — Approved a rate increase for the Yellow Cab Co. of San Rafael. The rate will go from 70 cents for the first one-sixth of a mile with 10 cents for each additional sixth of a mile to 70 cents for the first one-seventh of a mile with 10 cents for each additional seventh of a mile.

DESIGN REVIEW — Asked the board of design review to consider all public works projects of substantial visual impact before they are approved by the city council.

CLOSED SESSION — Held a closed meeting to discuss acquisition of open space.

WATERY RESCUE

A weeping Linda Sandbeck, 27, of Boston is rescued from the Charles River by a Boston fireman and two policemen after apparently falling from the Harvard Bridge. The three men jumped into the water when they saw a woman lose her grip on one of the slippery support pillars on the bridge. All four clung to ropes until a boat arrived.

Recycling — Truth Or Fiction?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Minnesota environmental protection official told a Senate hearing today he believes the public may be brainwashed into believing that recyclying is the answer to the nation's energy and solid waste programs.

Grant J. Merritt, director of the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, said he believes recycling is necessary in the battle to combat the pileup of solid wastes, but that he believes even stronger measures should be taken to reduce use of materials that may become waste.

Merritt said he questioned just how many firms that produce products bearing a "recyclable" label actually take steps toward recycling.

In Minnesota, he said, one beer company is widely advertising its containers as recyclable.

"The people of Minnesota are being duped into believing it's okay to drink beer in one-way bottles and cans because they are recyclable —but we question whether they are actually being recycled now or will in the future."

He did not identify the firm, but said it was located in another state.

Merritt testified before a Senate panel considering five bills to promote recycling or reuse of materials and conversion of waste matter into energy. The panel of the Senate Public Works Committee, headed by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., expects to produce its own bill following hearings.

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, told the panel he did not believe the problem of the nation's huge pileup of waste can be corrected without changes in the tax laws as well.

"The tax system gives the edge to people using raw materials as opposed to recycling," he said. He particularly pointed to depletion allowances on oil and other natural resources.

Gravel said he believes either these tax incentives on use of raw materials must be removed, or else new tax incentives be provided for firms recyclying or reusing products.

Merritt said he was concerned at the drive toward converting waste into energy or recycling because "the resource recovery process itself may create undesirable environmental impacts or consume vital natural resources such as petroleum or natural gas."

"Much greater conservation is possible through regulations and programs which encourage the reduction of unnecessary use of materials, the reuse and repairability of products, and the extension of product lifetime."

Nashville, Tenn. Mayor C. Beverly Briley, representing the National League of Cities and U. S. Conference of Mayors, said both groups believed that waste "must to the maximum extent possible be controlled or reduced at its source."

He pointed out that the Mayors' group has urged requirements that all beverages be sold in returnable containers.

Idamae Garrott, a Montgomery County, Md. councilwoman, testified on behalf of the National Association of Counties.

She strongly disagreed with one bill that would set up a regional solid waste management and resource recovery system that was modeled after the 1972 Water Pollution Control Act.

End Of U.S. Aid To Turkey Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Turkey's decision to resume growing opium, the raw material for much of the heroin smuggled into the United States, should result in suspension of U.S. economic and military aid, says Sen. Walter F. Mondale.

Mondale said yesterday he will introduce legislation requiring the cutoff because he does not think President Nixon will use his authority to suspend aid to Turkey.

Agnew Provided Only Normal Courtesies On Mideast Trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said today that former Vice President Spiro Agnew during a recent Middle East trip was provided only the "courtesies normally afforded businessmen and other U.S. citizens traveling abroad."

Department spokesman John F. King acknowledged the U.S. embassy in Kuwait had sent a cable — reproduced in the Washington Post today — last May to the embassy in Beirut passing on Agnew's request for a car and driver to meet him at the airport. However, King said, the Beirut embassy did not provide these services because the department had ordered that Agnew should be given only "normal courtesies" for businessmen.

Agnew had cut short a business trip because his wife was seriously ill at home.

King said the State Department had told Agnew before he left on his trip that he would get the same treatment as any other businessman abroad.

"It was also indicated that he should not expect to be met at airports or provided with cars, escort officers or security," King said. "These instructions were carried out by all posts abroad."

Sierra Bank cares about you as well as your money.

Banks are not generally known for being big-hearted institutions. But let's face it, there are banks and there are banks. One of the many unique things about Sierra National Bank is the special attention our people give our customers. And we're proud to be a part of the community.

Sierra Bank can do more for you than those giant, impersonal banks.

First, we're not like the big state-wide banks. Our interests and commitments are right here in Marin, and Sonoma Counties. We care about our community and we think it shows in the way we work with you. When your Sierra man or woman helps you with a money problem, they don't have to "check with Montgomery Street" like some of the big boys do. Every service we offer is performed right in your own community. In banking today, attitude and personal service mean more than sheer size. And you have every element of government insurance with Sierra that you do with the giants.

We're small, flexible and stream-lined compared with the giant banks. That makes its easier for us to respond to local people's banking needs.

—A Free Checking Account
With only $100 minimum balance . . .

Most of the big state-wide banks require a $200 to $300 minimum for a free checking account. We give you the same thing for only $100 minimum balance. Here's what Free Checking means. No service charge and postage paid both ways by Sierra. All the services of a checking account at no charge.

Evergreen Checking Account

There's also the famous Evergreen Checking Account. This is a bounce-proof checking account which covers checks written beyond your balance up to a specified maximum overdraft amount. And if you've ever overdrawn your checking account, you know Evergreen Checking is a very nice thing to have.

—Loans, Loans, Loans

Auto Loans, Home Improvement and Mortgage Loans, Business Loans, Debt Consolidation Loans, Travel Loans, Education Loans. If you can think of a reason to borrow money, we'll probably think of a reason to loan it to you. And at extremely competitive rates, of course.

Very interesting interest on savings accounts.

There's a lot of conflicting information floating around these days about Interest Rates on Savings Accounts. We'll try to simplify this. On specified types of accounts, Sierra National pays the highest interest the federal government will allow.

Passbook Savings	5% Annual Rate
90 days—less than 1 year	5½% Annual Rate*
1 year/$500 minimum	6% Annual Rate*
2½ year/$500 minimum	6½% Annual Rate*
4 year/$1000 minimum	7% Annual Rate*

Compare these rates with those of other savings institutions, and you'll see why Sierra's interest on savings can be more interesting to you.

Your Sierra Bank branch managers.

Drop in and talk over your money situation. That's what we're here for. And the coffee's on us.

A CHOICE PARCEL INTO OPEN SPACE

Marin County Purchases 154 Acres Atop North Ridge In Kent Woodlands

A 154-acre parcel atop the North Ridge in Kent Woodlands was acquired today by the Marin County Open Space District.

The land is undeveloped and is a portion of the picturesque Baltimore Canyon with street access from Crown, Ridgecrest and Blue Ridge roads.

It is bounded on the south by Knob Hill and the Marin Municipal Water District lands and on the north by the Kent Woodlands subdivision.

Director Gary T. Giacomini called it the best open space purchase so far, while colleague Robert A. Roumiguiere suggested a copy of the deal "be sent to Philadelphia."

His comment was in reference to the county's difficulties in negotiating purchase of the San Pedro Reserve property in Santa Venetia. Land owner Ronald Fierman lives in Philadelphia.

On a related matter, the district board took no action on a request from Mill Valley that the county join in acquisition of 17 acres in Scott Valley.

The land is divided but not developed and the property owners are asking $150,000. It lies above the Scott Valley subdivision.

College Board Tackles Spending Program Again

The Marin Community College District board, which is planning for an increase of students at College of Marin next fall, wrestled last night again with next year's proposed college operating budget, due to go up almost $1 million.

The board, with only four members present at a special session, took no action on the college's proposed operating budget, which now stands at $8,199,694, an increase of $992,839 or 13.8 per cent over this year's spending program.

In addition, the district's building expenditures currently are planned for $12,807,750, including both College of Marin and Indian Valley Colleges. The total district operating budget would be $9,922,490, with IVC expenses included.

This year, 5,970 students enrolled at College of Marin, but officials have estimated next year's attendance at 6,270. The estimate is based, not upon figures of the number of graduates at Marin high schools, but rather on state averages, according to Supt. John A. Grasham.

He said College of Marin traditionally has had a higher percentage of enrollment increase than the state average.

It also was pointed out last night that College of Marin's enrollment in the fall may be affected by the new starting time of August, rather than September.

Included in budget increases for next year are some new positions, including one to facilitate return of housewives to school and jobs and another to act as a contact between the community and the handicapped student.

There are also several positions slated to be filled that went empty in the past year. Higher costs of materials are also included, but no salary increases for employees have yet been budgeted.

The board is due to adopt its publication budget on July 17, and the district business manager, Norman Bird, said he expects it will be largely unchanged from the one under discussion.

He estimated that the final tax rate may drop slightly from this year's $1.056 levy. Many taxpayers will pay higher taxes, however, because of increased valuation of their property.

Hospital Board To Eye Contract

The Marin Hospital District board will meet Thursday at 8 a.m. in the Coral Room of Marin General Hospital to discuss its contract with the county for Short-Doyle and Medi-Cal payments.

The county's contract with the hospital was to expire July 1 but the hospital board granted a one-month extension and agreed that any changes would be effective July 1.

Hospital trustees will also be given a status report on their suit to force the county to go ahead with realignment of Bon Air Road. County supervisors have asked the hospital board to meet with them to discuss compromise.

One Busing Cost Impasse Remains

Marin County Transit District directors today accepted most of a proposed compromise with the Golden Gate Bridge District over a disputed bill for bus service.

At issue is the cost of transporting passengers who board commuter buses within Marin and get off in Marin, a cost the bridge district insists the county should pay.

The bridge district figures the cost this fiscal year at about $350,000, a sum the county points out is more than it can pay from its limited funds.

After months of negotiations, the bridge district offered to accept $85,000 plus $120,000 in sales taxes the county will get when the district takes delivery of 32 more buses and three new ferries. The bridge district also proposed that the county withdraw its objection to giving it most of the county's $1.3 million in state gasoline tax revenue for transit.

The only proposal the county board declined to accept was that it also agree to pay the full cost in future years. Unless voters agree to raise the property tax limit for transit, no funds are available to increase the annual payment, the board said.

Voters last month rejected just such a proposal, but the board agreed today to shoot for another try on the ballot next March

The board voted 4-to-1 to accept the bridge district's compromise, supervisor Gary T. Giacomini voting "no" and objecting the county should keep its share of gasoline tax revenue to improve local bus service. The compromise now goes back to bridge directors for their action.

Superisor Michael Wornum and Mill Valley city councilman Robert Burton were absent.

The board also reaffirmed its requests to the state to provide a special lane for buses on Highway 101 when widening between the Richardson Bay Bridge and Greenbrae is completed, and to rebuild the Doyle Drive approach to the Golden Gate Bridge with four lanes in each direction.

JOB TRAINING PROGRAM

Student Cooks Mixing Up Gourmet Fare In Classes

By NELS JOHNSON

The mammoth institutional kitchen at St. Vincent's School for Boys, never known for exotic fare, has become a gourmet's delight.

The rambling facility is the base for 20 student cooks enrolled in a federally-funded training program sponsored by the state Employment Development Department and the Marin County Schools office.

The six-month program began six weeks ago, and the students already have mastered some of the finer points of the culinary art.

For the class, it was only a routine day's work.

Students enrolled in the class appear at 8 a.m. and work to 5 p.m. daily, learning cookery, planning menus, and cooking meals. The proof of the pudding comes at noon, when they eat what they have prepared.

Teaching the class is 31-year-old Lothar Vogel of San Rafael, a native of Vienna, who trained in Europe for three years as a journeyman chef.

Vogel, who has prepared meals for the king of Saudi Arabia and other notables, quit a job as manager of a San Francisco restaurant to teach the class. He says it's the best job he's ever had.

"This is the biggest reward of my life. I'm teaching people to cook and they just flip out, he declared.

Vogel, an advocate of farm-fresh products who believes use of canned foods in cooking is "criminal, said that being organized is the key to good cooking.

"If you put quality in and you know what you're doing, you can never fail," he said. "The biggest trick to cooking is organization. If you're organized, you can do anything."

Purpose of the class, he said, is to train students as cooks and place them in jobs in local restaurants. The course is endorsed by Bartenders and Culinary Workers Local 126 of the AFL-CIO.

Students already have learned how to prepare French beef stew, grilled salmon, roast turkey, banana nut bread, eclairs, cheesecake and basic brown sauce, among other things. In the months ahead, they'll learn about nutrition, visit local restaurants, dairies and produce markets, he said

"It's a rare opportunity. I'm amazed at how much I'm learning, said 21-year-old Gil de la Roza of Fairfax."

"I'm learning more than I ever expected," said Tim M. Wall, 24, of San Rafael.

Others in the class nodded agreement.

In November, Vogel promised, 20 expert cooks will be seeking employment in local restaurants. "They're already quite skilled," he said.

Under the terms of the $59,000 program, each student receives child care service if needed, transportation to class, and $65 weekly, as well as culinary training. Enrollees, designated as economically disadvantaged by the government, were screened by the state Employment Development Department in San Rafael.

Rules Changed To Aid Shopping Center Growth

Two ordinance changes which will facilitate expansion of the Corte Mader Shopping Center were approved last night by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

Both were approved 4-0 with Commissioner James W. McClintock absent, according to Elizabeth Long, commission secretary.

The first changes the town's parking requirement for shopping centers from one parking space per 125 square feet of floor area to one per 220 square feet.

Capital Planning Associates of Novato, owners of the 240,000-square-foot center who plan to add a restaurant, theater and other stores, claimed the former requirement is more restrictive than similar ordinances in other cities, Mrs. Long said.

She said the shopping center is currently within the more restrictive parking requirement but always has empty parking spaces, even during peak shopping times.

The second change would allow a parking structure in commercial areas. Such a structure would allow Capital Planning to meet parking requirements while freeing more land for center expansion.

Both changes will now go to the town council for approval.

Corte Madera Planning Commission also:

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by adjacent neighbors of a board of adjustment decision to let Mrs. Thomas Lee Young build a home at 26 Fairview Avenue and allowed her to build a carport rather than a parking deck on adjacent property at 30 Fairview Avenue.

SIGN — Denied an application by Alex McLean of Motorcycles Unlimited, 5776 Paradise Drive, for a four by ten-foot sign on the outside of the building.

COMMERCIAL — Denied an application by Town Improvement Co. to build a "commercial building" at 3 El Camino Drive. Area residents had claimed the new business would add to traffic problems in the area and the applicant had refused to state what type of business would occupy the building. No representative of Town Improvement was at last night's meeting, Mrs. Long said.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to July 23 at 7:30 p.m. in town hall to hear representatives from Cal-West Communities, Inc., outline their new proposal for the Madera del Presidio subdivision.

Support To Community Gym Plans

During a public hearing held by the parks and recreation commission, no one spoke against the plan, said recreation director James Pekkain who described audience turnout as relatively light.

The proposed gym, which city officials believe can be built for about $155,000, would be financed in part by a $97,000 revenue sharing appropriation. Pekkain said the city has yet to determine the source of the remaining estimated $60,000.

The structure, as it is being considered, would include eight basketball courts and possibly a weight-lifting room, he said, and would relieve present overcrowding of facilities at Rohnert Park Junior High School.

Tentative location of the gym would be on the junior high school grounds, although Pekkain said the city has received no firm commitment from the Petaluma Schoo District, which controls the junior high.

While plans for the building haven't yet been drawn, he said, the building would probably be built of sheet steel with a concrete floor.

Board To Consider Pipeline Accord

A draft agreement with the North Marin County Water District on the planned intertie pipeline to Southern and Central Marin will be considered by the Marin Municipal Water District board during a meeting at 1 p.m. tomorrow in district offices in Corte Madera.

The agreement, which would permit Marin municipal to connect the intertie to the North Marin System at Novato, is scheduled to be discussed at 3 p.m.

$treet $weepers Are Cleaning Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Street sweepers pay is scheduled to reach $17,059 a year by next June.

Figures released yesterday show that New York pays its sweepers a top of $12,886, Chicago less than $12,000, Boston $8,695 and Philadelphia $9,143.

The reason for San Francisco's higher rate is a provision in the city charter linking the pay of certain municipal employees to that with those in the private construction industry.

Planners Reject Tennis Court Plan

A plan to build two tennis courts at the Strawberry Shores Apartments in Strawberry was rejected yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission after nearby neighbors protested that the courts would invade their backyard privacy.

Raymond Kaliski, an owner of the apartment complex once known as Villa Laguna, told commissioners his tenants had requested the courts.

Several residents of the Ricardo Road area protested that the courts were planned for a "buffer area" between their homes and the apartments. They said the area should be landscaped and not developed.

Planning commissioners agreed unanimously that was the intent of the county when it set aside the area in the 1970 master plan for the apartments.

The Marin County Planning Commission Also:

SAN PEDRO — Accepted an environmental impact report for the proposed San Pedro Condominium project in Santa Venetia. A hearing on the 60-unit project will be held July 22.

RANCHES — Postponed to Aug. 5 action on an environmental impact report on a master plan for development of the Luiz and Grady ranches in Upper Lucas Valley. The plan calls for 472 dwellings on 1,615 acres, most of which would be left in open space.

BLACK POINT — Recommended county supervisors impose an interim ordinance over 600 acres in the Bahia-Black Point Knolls area to limit lot size to two and five acres. The ordinance, if approved, would run for one year. Area residents protested the action.

LOGGING — Approved a request from Robert and C. M. Morelli to thin and limb trees on their 550 acre ranch on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road near Hicks Valley. The clearing operation is to provide more grazing land, though the wood will be sold.

REZONING — Completed rezoning "open space" lands in the Fairfax area to permit fewer possible homesites. Rezoned yesterday were the 10-acre Stanley property and the 8-acre Berliner property on Bolinas Road near Camp Lilienthal. The new zoning, if approved by supervisors, will allow one home for every two acres.

OFFICERS — Elected Jerry Friedman as chairman and Marie J. Sessi as vice chairman. Friedman succeeds William Long as chairman.

When "Sorry No Gas Today" became a familiar sign to motorists during the gas rationing period of WW II, drivers took to following fuel trucks to gas stations.

Apartment Ordinance Is Endorsed

A new ordinance to regulate the conversion of apartments to condominiums and provide greater protection to renters being displaced was endorsed unanimously yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission. (Another planning commission story, page 1.)

The ordinance, which will be considered by county supervisors next month, would prohibit conversions whenever the percentage of rental units drops below 25 per cent of the total number of dwelling units in the county.

Currently, rental units make up about 30 per cent of the housing market in Marin. The proposed ordinance would be limited to unincorporated areas, though several cities are working on similar restrictions.

It would give the county authority to require a percentage of converted units be made available to moderate-income persons.

The planning commission also could deny a conversion if shown that existing tenants "will have substantial difficulty in obtaining comparably priced rental housing."

GOING TO BUY A NEW CAR?

Buy It In Marin

What Can A Marin County Dealer Offer You?

Your Marin County auto dealer can put money in your pocket. He has lower overhead, lower sales tax, no gimmicks and you as a next door customer to think of. Compare the above, to dealers "ACROSS the BRIDGE." Then stop by and see one of us and we'll prove it to you.

You have a big investment in your new car and when, and if, something does need repair, you want fast, convenient, reliable local service that you can depend on. We are your neighbors, our business is concentrated in Marin. We want your business . . . and strive to deserve it.

High Cholesterol Diet Being Tested

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cleveland Clinic researchers are testing a diet which might allow Americans to indulge in juicy steaks, slabs of butter and mounds of ice cream without worrying about cholesterol and the cardiovascular diseases the rich foods are suspected of causing.

Dr. Victor G. DeWolfe, head of the clinic's Department of Peripheral Vascular Disease, is directing the research with nutritionist Dr. Helen B. Brown and member emeritus of the clinic's research division. They are working with six couples, one or both of whom have elevated cholesterol blood levels.

"Ever since cholesterol was recognized as being implicated in the development of coronary heart disease, physicians have been attempting to find ways to overcome this," DeWolfe said. "This particular method offers a new dimension in an approach toward alteration of dietary habits."

For the past month and for the next three months, the test couples will eat meat and dairy products produced by livestock fed a special polyunsaturated feed.

Feed containing polyunsaturated vegetable matter is coated with protein which protects the feed from complete digestion in an animal's first stomach. The unsaturated nutrients are absorbed in the second stomach and become unsaturated fat in the cows and beef catle.

"In Australia they found that they were able to produce polyunsaturated meat," DeWolfe said. "They tried it on normal human beings and found they were able to reduce cholesterol by approximately 15 per cent.

"At Ohio State University, where they're also working on this, I believe they're using students as test subjects," he said. "We're the first group that have tried this on people who have elevated cholesterol to see if we can further decrease their cholesterol levels."

The taste of the unsaturated meat and dairy products is of some concern to the researchers, but DeWolfe reports the test couples "think it's pretty good."

"If this really works, the people of the Western world eating these highly saturated foods will be getting unsaturated foods instead, without having to change their habits," he said. "But I have no basis upon which to base a lot of optimism yet. I won't know until the tests are completed."

Flournoy Says Offshore Standards Must Be Met

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Controller Houston I. Flournoy, the Republican nominee for governor, says he will oppose federal plans for massive offshore oil drilling along California unless state environmental protection standards are met.

Flournoy is chairman of the state Lands Commission, which has jurisdiction over oil leases in state-owned tideland waters.

In a statement issued yesterday, he said, "I am not against oil drilling or exploration for new energy sources, but I do demand optimum safety measures."

In December the Lands Commission lifted a five-year moratorium against drilling in state waters after imposing what Flournoy said were probably the toughest standards in the world for safeguarding the environment.

"I intend to see to it that the federal government applies to all of its offshore oil operations the same strict controls the state has adopted in order to give the best possible protection to the people of California," Flournoy vowed.

He noted that it was in federal waters that the infamous 1969 Santa Barbara Channel oil blowout occurred.

Flournoy said he had a "particular problem" with the federal government's interest in granting exploratory oil leases off Santa Monica Bay.

The popular area, he said, "has been termed a sanctuary by both local and state government. We have long-established policies preserving this area and we intend to maintain them."

Jail Term On Drug Charge

A San Francisco antique dealer drew a six-month jail sentence yesterday for possessing six ounces of cocaine when his car was stopped by the California Highway Patrol Jan. 16.

But the sentence of Andre Tener Armand, 35, was stayed until he can appeal a decision by Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best not to suppress the evidence in the case.

Best also ordered Armand to spend three years on probation.

The drugs, reportedly worth between $6,000 and $24,000 were found in three plastic bags in his car when he was stopped for speeding on Highway 101.

Armand pleaded guilty to ssing the drug for sale.

Coast Commission To Meet Thursday

The North Central Coast Regional Commission will meet Thursday at 3 p.m. in San Rafael City Hall to review a claim exemption by Oceanic Properties and to discuss progress on two coastal plan reports.

The commission was originally scheduled to meet Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Marin Civic Center.

San Rafael, air quality yesterday:
Oxidants, clean air.
Nitrogen, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, light air pollution.

Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, clean air.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources.

Bandit Worries About Gas Tank

WINCHESTER, Va. (UPI) — The bandit who robbed a Commerical and Savings Bank branch of more than $4,000 yesterday apparently wanted to make a few friends and save gas while getting his free cash.

Police said the robber told two customers, "This is your lucky day," giving one $5 and telling the other, "You'll be in the newspaper."

Police said the bandit, who was wearing a red wig and sunglasses, also told the teller, "Hurry up and put the money in the bag before my car runs out of gas."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Brief Periods Of Depression Common To Almost Everyone

Everyone is depressed at some time. Spirits sag when a loved one dies, or when a person faces disappointment, failure, or rejection. The political scene of late can dampen the most optimistic individual. Short periods of discouragement or sadness usually are short-lived and, before too long, the attitude becomes more cheerful. Several antidepressant drugs can help the person get over the gloomy days.

TRUE MELANCHOLIA or depression is serious. These individuals may not have the ability to cope with life's normal vicissitudes. They become depressed by events which only sadden others. All aspects of daily life are affected by a deeply entrenched depression. The response to minor disturbances is completely out of proportion to the problem at hand.

This much ado about nothing offers one of the first clues that the emotional state is deteriorating. Insomnia, lack of appetite, and weight loss also are early signs of depression.

The individual becomes pessimistic and downhearted, cries easily, and feels inferior and unworthy of consideration. When feelings of inadequacy and hopelessness persist, suicide is a possibility. Rational thinking no longer is possible, adding to the despair and loneliness.

EXPERT CARE is needed in these situations, because the majority of victims are not able to help themselves. Some respond to one of the tricyclic antidepressives such an imipramine or amitriptyline. Monoamine oxidase inhibitors such as phenelzine or tranylcypromine also are useful. Phenothiazines are effective when anxiety coexists.

Should these drugs fail to relieve the depression, electroconvulsive therapy is recommended.

It is not always easy to determine the cause of the depression. One of the worst bits of advice is to recommend a trip or vacation. This only adds to the confusion and makes the person more apprehensive.

FURTHERMORE, the melancholiac cannot be cheered up or reasoned with; it is useless to tell him to forget his troubles. If he could, he would. Home care is not recommended, unless a day care mental health center is accessible.

Dr. Van Dellen welcomes reader questions. While he cannot reply to them individually, he will answer those of general interest in his column. Write to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

HOARSE PUPIL

Miss M. D. writes: A 6-year-old boy in my class is hoarse all the time. Could a child this age have throat cancer?

REPLY

Infection, including tuberculosis, is a more likely cause. Throat cancer would be unusual at this age, but a benign (innocent) tumor may be responsible for his hoarseness. The most common of these (papilloma) is easily removed. In many other diseases of the larynx, hoarseness is associated with stridor (harsh breathing).

THE BREWING ULCER

L. E. writes: Could aggravation cause obstruction in a person with duodenal ulcer?

REPLY

Yes, if it keeps the ulcer brewing so that the exit of the stomach is obstructed temporarily by spasm. Or, the valve may be closed permanently by scar tissue.

Burglary Sentence The Same

A San Francisco man who pleaded guilty to attempted burglary received a 10-day jail sentence yesterday, the identical sentence given a codefendant.

Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best first gave Stuart Moore Gray, 21, two months in jail, but then suspended 50 days. If Gray completes two years' probation without getting into further trouble, the 50-day stay will become permanent.

It was the same sentence Best passed out last month to Jeffrey Joseph Greenbach, 20, of Palo Alto, down to the promise to reduce the charge to a misdemeanor if both men complete their probation.

Mill Valley police arrested the pair Dec. 14 and said they found a television set and a guitar, taken from a Summit Avenue residence, in their truck.

Board To Elect

The Lagunitas School District board will elect officers for 1974-75 at its meeting Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at Lagunitas School and will also consider an instructional television contract.

Younger Says Manson Escape Plot Possible

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Charles Manson's followers have a history of violence that could spawn a terrorist plot to free him from prison, Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger said yesterday.

Manson is imprisoned at the California State Medical Facility at Vacaville, serving a life term for the knife murders of blonde actress Sharon Tate and four others at Miss Tate's Bel Air mansion on Aug. 9, 1969.

Manson and three women followers were originally sentenced to death for the Tate killings and the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Leno LaBianca the following night.

Younger, in a report entitled "Terrorism in California," said there originally were 100 members of the "Manson Clan" — followers and admirers of the dimunitive prisoner — but it is unknown how many remain in California.

Manson had his female admirers send nude photos of themselves to members of the Aryan Brotherhood, a prison gang, in an effort to ingratiate himself with the white-supremecist gang when he knew he was going to prison, Younger said.

"Several of the Manson girls became involved in escape attempts to help members of the Aryan Brotherhood escape from various prisons in this state," Younger's report said.

"Members of the Manson Clan, because of their past activities and their potential for violence, could become involved in a terrorist plot to free Charles Manson or other members of the Manson Clan or Aryan Brotherhood now confined in state prisons," the report said.

Phil Guthrie, a spokesman for the state Department of Corrections, said Manson is under heavy security at the Vacaville prison, about 45 miles east of San Francisco.

Man Given Six-Month Jail Term

A Larkspur carpenter was sentenced to six months in jail and two years' probation yesterday for a sexual assault on a 13-year-old San Anselmo girl.

In sentencing 26-year-old Kirk Vern Cammack, Superior Court Judge Charles Read Best split the difference between a probation report, which recommended the carpenter spend no time in jail, and the district attorney's office, which called for a one-year jail sentence.

Judge Best also ordered Cammack to pay the girl's medical bills.

Cammack was arrested in April after the girl told San Anselmo police he took her to an isolated area in Fairfax and assaulted her.

The offense to which Cammack pleaded guilty formerly was called statutory rape but was changed in 1970 to unlawful intercourse.

Tidewater Purchase Said Illegal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court held yesterday that Phillips Petroleum, the nation's 8th largest oil company, could not enter the California gasoline station market by acquiring the Tidewater Oil Co.

The court acted in a brief order without opinion affirming a decision by U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson and ending nearly eight years of Phillips competition in California.

Ferguson had hald that Phillips, by acquiring Tidewater for $366 million rather than building its own California system from the ground up, violated the Clayton Act. The act forbids acquisition on the assets of a company when competition would be lessened.

Phillips had argued that its chances for success marketing gasoline in California were slim without first acquiring an already existing company such as Tidewater, also called "Flying A," and its 3,250 stations. It cited losses in the last decade by larger firms attempting to open stations in California, including Standard Oil of Indiana, Gulf and Exxon.

Oil company lawyers also said Tidewater would go out of business if not purchased, which would reduce competition even more.

Permit Sought For Restaurant

Novato zoning administrator Charles J. Linthicum will consider a use permit application for a restaurant at 858 Grant Avenue at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Novato Community House.

The application by Christian Francoz includes office space above the restaurant.

Linthicum also will consider an application by Frank Baccaglio to place 51,000 cubic yards of fill along the east side of South Novato Boulevard, just north of Yukon Way.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Japanese Film Series Unique, Popular With PBS Stations

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Japanese Film" series seems one of the more improbable survivors of the recently-concluded program "auction" the Public Broadcasting Service held for the nation's public TV system.

After all, who'd think many U.S. viewers would tune in for Japanese movie classics that range from what is called "a chilling Samurai morality tale" to a "striking parable" about modern Japanese society.

They were willing to include the series in the 26 they've agreed to help finance — 93 were up for grabs — next season under PBS's new "station program cooperative" plan.

Admittedly, the deal was sweetened by the fact the bulk of the show's cost was underwritten by a $448,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

But what else might account for the stations' interest in 13 English sub-titled movies that last two to three hours and are nowhere as well-known in the U.S. as, say, "Easy Rider" or "Citizen Kane."

The probable answer, says the series' internationally-known host, Dr. Edwin O. Reischauer, is simply that "there's a growing awareness in many parts of the country to the importance of Japan as a whole.

"There's also a certain awareness here of the quality of the Japanese film medium. The Japanese films do have a very high reputation, particularly with young people in America, in the colleges.

"And I think the idea of 'The Japanese Film' is extraordinarily interesting," said Reischauer, U.S. Ambassador to Japan from 1961 to 1966 and a Harvard professor.

The series, scheduled to begin in November, was produced by public TV station KQED in San Francisco in association with the Pacific Film Archive of the University of California at Berkeley.

Harolds Signs Vanishing From America Scene

RENO, Nev. (AP) — At one time some 2,300 "Harolds Club or Bust" signs dotted rural America and club officials bragged you were never more than eight hours from one.

But today, because of what officials of the glittering gambling casino call the "big takedown" sparked by the 1965 Highway Beautification Act, fewer than 300 signs remain.

Eventually, all signs east of the Rocky Mountains will be phased out.

"I imagine we'll end up with about 75 signs," said Bob Griffith, chief of outdoor advertising for Harolds. The beautification act mandates nonconforming signs to be removed from highways by 1977 and allows signs only in commercial and industrial areas.

The Harolds signs first appeared in the late 1930s, shortly after the casino opened its doors in 1935.

The 1940s and 1950s were the signs' heydays as some 2,300 of them sprouted in rural areas across the nation.

"It was a toss-up between us and Burma Shave over who had the most signs," said Griffith, whose job it was to travel across the nation finding spots for the signs and seeing they were maintained.

"It was quite easy," he said. "You found a location, made an agreement with the property owner, got a permit if necessary and put up your sign."

He said most people were happy to have the famed signs on their property and were usually paid a nominal fee for permitting them to be put up.

One Oklahoma City woman, Griffith said, let the club build the sign on her property for free, because she said her husband had once won $10 at the club.

Harolds never advertised in foreign countries, but did provide their signs to U.S. military bases overseas when asked.

Tourists Think Wharf Is Sleezy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A public opinion survey has found that many tourists and businessmen think San Francisco's famed Fisherman's Wharf is a "honky tonk carnival of cheap side shows."

The survey, released yesterday, was undertaken by a citizens' committee at the request of Mayor Joseph L. Alioto to find out ways to restore the area, visited by 12 million tourists each year, as a center of the Northern California commercial fishing industry.

In the past few years, the number of boats operating out of the wharf area has sharply declined, while at the same time the number of restaurants, motels, gift shops and wax museums has multiplied.

Dangerous Intersection Work Will Start Soon

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Work is to begin within six weeks on putting traffic signals at the dangerous Highway 37-Lakeville Road intersection east of the Petaluma River, the state Department of Transportation has announced.

Bids were opened Wednesday on that project and on replacement of a culvert on Highway 1 near Olema, among bids on 15 projects throughout Northern California.

There were four bidders on the Lakeville Road intersection, with the lowest, $98,273 submitted by the R. Flatland Co. of San Mateo. Low bidder among four on replacing the Highway 1 culvert was the Charles I. Cunningham Co. of Oakdale, who asked $33,333. The site is 3.5 miles south of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

State spokesmen said it may take up to two weeks to verify and evaluate the bids, and work must begin within four weeks after the contracts are awarded.

The Lakeville Road intersection has been the scene of frequent collisions during rainy or foggy weather, and traffic on some weekends backs up for more than a mile on Lakeville Road, with cars trying to get onto Highway 37.

If you want your zero degree freezer on the side, there's the Amana Side-by-Side. Or you can have it on the top or the bottom. They're all Free-O-Frost in both the refrigerator and freezer.

And every Amana has two independent temperature controls, one for the freezer, one for the refrigerator. There's a "refrigerator-within-a-refrigerator" that keeps meat fresh up to twice as long as an ordinary meat keeper. And a high-humidity compartment that keeps vegetables fresh up to three weeks.

Come and look at the choices Amana has for you. Then choose the one you want from gold, avocado, coppertone or white.

WOULD FOUND A SCHOOL

Marin City Woman Hopes To Train African Nurses

By JEFF GREER

Now the mother of four children, highly educated and a skilled nurse in a heart patients' intensive care unit, Mrs. Ward left her Fairfax home today to see if she can make another dream come true.

It'll be just a brief three weeks of reconnaissance, she explained yesterday. She will go as a health education specialist with a missionary team from the Church of God in Christ.

Mrs. Ward must be back in Marin no later than October, to resume working on her master's degree at the University of California in San Francisco.

But if the government of Ghana is interested, and if she can get support from the World Health Organization or some similar agency, her further education may wait while she sets up the nursing school in Africa.

"My dream — what I'd really like to do — is to set up a two-year school... and train the first graduates to become instructors themselves," she explained.

MAXINE WARD

"If the Africans aren't ready" for her plans, "maybe Guam or some other country will be," she added.

Mrs. Ward never has been to Africa before, but her daughter, Sharon, went to Ghana two years ago.

"She said the Africans asked her, 'What can you do to help us help ourselves?'," Mrs. Ward reported.

Her daughter also reported that Ghana boasted a large modern hospital, but it was so understaffed that "people had to wait in line for hours even to get emergency care."

Mrs. Ward said she hopes to coordinate her planned school with the Ghana government so it will be accredited. She has taken special courses in teaching nursing, and saved all the materials to use in her intended project.

The youngest of her four children, David, 17, was graduated last month from Sir Francis Drake High School. The oldest, Sharon, is married and taking a master's degree in education at California State University, Hayward.

Mrs. Ward worked as a nurse's aide in a Kansas hospital to support herself through high school before coming to Marin City in the postwar years. She found office jobs in federal civil service, but the commuting to San Francisco and the cares of raising four children and helping her carpenter husband, Loyd Ward Jr. build a family home in Fairfax made commuting too burdensome.

Unable to find office work in Marin, Mrs. Ward became a nurse's aide at Marin General Hospital in 1961, then was among the first graduating class in the College of Marin licensed vocational nursing school in 1962.

Throughout her years in Marin, Mrs. Ward has volunteered thousands of hours for the Bethesda Church of God In Christ in Marin City, and has served as director of the church's youth department.

Her own studies have been assisted by scholarships from the Marin Medical Association Auxiliary, a College of Marin award and a National Defense Education Act Loan, in addition to her hard-won paychecks, Mrs. Ward said.

But more than money or toil, she said she believes all the dreams she's made real so far are due to "my deep, abiding faith in God... I hope it'll help my dream come true in Africa, too."

Fairfax Man Is Arrested At Houseboat

According to Sausalito police, the woman, occupant of a houseboat off Gate 5 Road, awoke at about 4 a.m. to find Michael Joseph McGee, 32, of 2575 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Police said she talked the man out of burglarizing the houseboat and called them.

McGee was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and held in lieu of $2,500 bail. He was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Police withheld the name and address of McGee's accuser, citing city council instructions not to report identity of burglary victims.

Court Will Hear Abortion Ad Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has decided to hear arguments next term on a Virginia case involving abortion and free speech.

The case is an appeal of a Virginia Supreme Court ruling forbidding newspapers from carrying paid advertisements for abortions services on grounds the law is a valid exercise of state powers to ensure proper medical practice.

Driver Injured In Sausalito

Joan E. Davidson, 27, of Sausalito was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with facial cuts and bruises received in a single-car accident last night near Sausalito.

The California Highway Patrol said Miss Davidson was eastbound on Bridgeway Boulevard between Sausalito and Marin City when her auto skidded into a concrete pillar.

Member Arrested On Pot Charge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — When John Scott Francis, 19, was elected to the Reynoldsburg, Ohio, school board, he became one of Ohio's youngest elected public officials. Yesterday, police said he had been charged with possession of marijuana.

Judge Hits Any BART Threats

OAKLAND (UPI) — A superior court judge issued an order yesterday prohibiting striking Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District employees from interfering with Bay Area Rapid Transit District operations.

Judge Spurgeon Avakian said Amalgamated Transit Union members could not block BART stations or yards and were forbidden from intimidating or threatening BART employees or passengers.

His order followed unsuccessful attempts by ATU members to keep BART employees out of that district's yards in Richmond, Hayward and Concord.

Although BART is not being struck, its facilities are being used by commuters left without their regular means of transportation when the AC Transit strike started nine days ago.

Lloyd Hadde, the ATU's executive treasurer, said Judge Avakian's order would be obeyed as long as his union could continue picketing.

BART employees either walked past ATU pickets or were taken into the yards by means of special trains.

Thomas J. Nicolopulos, state conciliator, met with both AC Transit officials and officers of the ATU in efforts to end the walkout.

He said he didn't know when face-to-face negotiations would resume.

The strike, which involves 1,656 union members, concerns ATU demands for pay increases in a new labor contract. A key issue is the renewal of a cost-of-living increase provision.

AC Transit usually carries 232,000 passengers a day, some 25,000 across the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge and the remainder in the East Bay Area.

Union spokesmen have talked of trying to stop such alternate transit service as Greyhound Bus Lines and the San Francisco Municipal Railway, in addition to BART.

BART does not yet run between San Francisco and Oakland but its lines do operate in the East Bay Area.

Giacomini Will Hear Complaints

Supervisor Gary T. Giacomini will meet with Corte Madera residents Thursday at 8 p.m. in Corte Madera Town Hall to hear any complaints or concerns they wish to discuss.

Judy Ainsworth, Giacomini's administrative assistant, said the meeting is one of a series the supervisor holds periodically in communities in his district.

Fortune Telling Ban Topic In Council

The Sausalito City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today in city hall, will consider a charge that the city's ban on fortune telling is unconstitutional.

Councilmen also are to consider a measure that would prohibit the mooring of any vessel in waters off Dunphy Park on the city's waterfront.

All-Stars Boycott Practice; Miami Game Threatened

CHICAGO (UPI) — The College All-Stars today boycotted the start of practice for their July 26 game with the world champion Miami Dolphins and threatened to refuse to play in the game, too, unless striking NFL veterans have a signed contract.

The action left plans for the annual summer classic in limbo. The sponsoring Chicago Tribune threatened to cancel the game unless it receives assurance by Wednesday that it will be played "without interference."

The 48 rookie stars who reported to training camp voted after a heated meeting Monday to honor the picket lines of striking veterans and not even practice for the game until "serious negotiations" resume.

Terry Bledsoe, director of information for the NFL Management Council, responded immediately in New York that the owners already had fulfilled that demand. He said Jim Scearce, a federal mediator, asked the NFL management Monday whether it would be willing to resume negotiations which broke off two weeks ago and the NFL accepted.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the Players Association, said he would fly to Washington from Chicago today "to see whether there's any good faith offer to be put forth by the owners. If there is, we're ready to negotiate."

However, Garvey said he hoped the All-Stars wait "to see how things are going before they make a decision" about returning to practice.

Luke Carroll, executive director of Chicago Tribune Charities, said it is "impossible to prepare for this game on very short notice.

"We think the players would prefer to save the game," he said. "We think the league owners would wish to see it played. But unless arrangements are worked out in 48 hours (by Wednesday) to allow the game to be played without interference, we shall be forced reluctantly to cancel."

The Players Association asked both the All-Stars and the Miami Dolphins to boycott the game, and few Dolphin regulars have turned out for training camp. But there was speculation that some of the Dolphins would change their minds because of the $5,000 paycheck for each Miami team member and Coach Don Shula said he would continue with his training camp despite the All-Stars' action.

The All-Stars made their decision in a hand vote after they listened to a one-hour debate between Jim Finks, a representative of the NFL Management Council, and Garvey.

Wayne Wheeler, an Alabama split end drafted by the Chicago Bears, said the All-Stars were "right in the middle—we didn't know what to do.

"We were getting into a thing where we were having a meeting with the players and they were telling us one thing. Then we were having a meeting with management and they were telling us another. We're just trying to get the pressure off our backs."

For the time being, the rookies agreed to remain at the Orrington Hotel in suburban Evanston in hopes that the dispute can be resolved.

Baseball Lost A Grand Old Man

The man was Walter Mails, a gentleman who was always known as a dapper Dan, from his days as a southpaw pitcher in the major leagues in the '20s to his last days when he visited Candlestick Park for Giant games.

WALTER MAILS

Walter, nicknamed the Imperial Duster and Walter the Great, died last Friday after more than a year's illness. He will be buried tomorrow in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. It was a tough battle with Parkinson's Disease and Walter lost. At 78, Mails couldn't fight back with the strength he had when he was helping the Cleveland Indians win the World Series in 1920.

The illness slowed Walter down. His brisk walk had changed into barely more than a shuffle. He had to stay home in San Francisco more, but he still made it to Candlestick Park's press box to see a few games. Since his retirement in 1972 from the Giants' speakers bureau, Mails still had his heart in baseball. As he said more than once: "Baseball's my life."

Walter's seven-year major league record was 32 wins and 25 losses, with the time spent with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Cardinals. In the '20 World Series, Mails pitched 6⅔ innings of shutout relief in one game and then pitched a 1-0 three-hit shutout for nine innings in the sixth game. The Indians won the Series the next day.

HE WAS PROUD OF his birthplace, San Quentin. "People always laughed when I told them I was born in San Quentin," Mails said once, "but it's the truth!" Walter's father was a guard at San Quentin Prison and his mother was the community's second postmaster, retiring in 1942.

Mails played his sandlot ball in Marin County and then in Berkeley before starting his professional career. In addition to the majors, Mails pitched in the Pacific Coast League, with the Oakland Oaks, San Francisco Seals, and the Sacramento Solons.

A publicist for the Seals starting in 1955, Mails took a like job with the Giants when that team moved west from New York. Mails lived in Marin during his early days with the Giants but moved to San Francisco later.

He was inducted into the Marin County Hall of Fame in 1969 by the sponsoring Knights of Columbus of Southern Marin. Last September he was honored by the American Sports Club of San Francisco for his contribution to sports through the years. He was too ill to attend the dinner but his wife, Viola, accepted his award for him.

A VERY OUTSPOKEN man was Walter. He would give his views on any subject and seldom had to be asked first. He rarely pulled punches.

Just a few days ago, which was to be the last time I would see him, Mails cornered me and brought up the subject of girls playing in Little League. He disagreed with the idea and felt boys should be left alone to play and girls should develop their own leagues. He cared little if he was labeling himself a chauvinist because of his views. To Walter's way of thinking, baseball was a man's game.

A couple of years ago, as guest speaker at a San Rafael Rotary Club meeting, Mails ended his talk only the way he could do it, saying, "Make sure you tell your friends you met the great Mails." There was a twinkle in his eyes.

Yes, that was Walter the Great.

HERE IT COMES — Cleveland pitcher Gaylord Perry delivers to rookie outfielder Claudell Washington in the bottom of the 10th inning at Oakland last night. Claudell singled to score the run that gave the A's a 4-3 victory.

Bid For Record Fails As Blue Outlasts Perry

A's Win 4-3 In 10 Innings Before 47,582

OAKLAND (UPI) — Please don't forget Vida Blue was the man who stopped Gaylord Perry.

Most of the stories today will show that a kid by the name of Claudell Washington, playing in his first big league game as a designated hitter, was the one who foiled Perry's quest to tie the American League record of 16 consecutive victories in a single season.

But Blue, pitching back to the form that won him all the headlines and the Cy Young Award only three short years ago, outdueled Perry Monday night as the Oakland A's outlasted the Cleveland Indians, in 10 innings, 4-3.

"Sure, the kid got the game-winning hit," said A's Manager Alvin Dark, "and I'm happy for him and the team that he did, but the first man I wanted to congratulate was Vida.

"Here we were with a packed stadium and everyone out to see if Gaylord could get his record, but Vida was the big man of the night in my mind. He just pitched a masterful game, the kind he had to to beat Perry."

Blue, now only 9-8 despite a string of six excellent pitched games, took his victory over Perry in stride.

"I'm just glad it's over and I'm glad we won," said Blue. "In my mind we should have won in nine, 2-1. I made the mistake and we had to keep on going. It was just another game to me. Sure I'm glad all those people came out to see the man (Perry) pitch and I hope they come out again, but they won't."

The crowd was 47,582, largest of the year in Oakland and surprisingly many among them were rooting for Perry, who gained his early big league fame while pitching across the bay for the San Francisco Giants.

The game had a carnival-like aura about it with Blue giving up only four hits and striking out seven and Perry giving up six hits and striking out 13.

A two-run homer by Gene Tenace staked Blue to a 2-0 lead by the second, but Vida walked John Lowenstein with the bases loaded and two out in the fifth to force across Cleveland's first run.

Then in the seventh, Dave Duncan, one of Blue's best friends and former batterymate in Oakland, drilled a fast ball for a two-run homer to give the Indians a 3-2 lead.

In the eighth, Claudell Washington first missed a homer by inches and then tripled after two out but never got home, and the game went down to the ninth. Joe Rudi, the young-old pro, picked the A's up off the floor with a one-out triple off

10TH INNING WIN

Moffitt's Triple Fools The Expos

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Expos expected Randy Moffitt to bunt, but he fooled them in the top of the 10th inning of last night's 5-4 San Francisco Giants' victory.

With Mike Phillips on first because of an error by Expos' second baseman Larry Lintz and Montreal playing in for the bunt, relief pitcher Moffitt crossed them up by clouting a triple to deep left centerfield. It was the first triple of his major league career.

"The ball hit the bat more than I hit the ball," said Moffitt, who worked 3 and 1-3 innings to pick up his fourth win against three losses. "The Expos were playing me so close that I thought I had a chance for an inside-the-park home run, but I realized I needed my strength to finish the game because Montreal was coming to bat in the bottom of the 10th."

Phillips scored what proved to be the winning run. Gary Matthews and Gary Thomasson each drove in two runs for the Giants. Bob Bailey hit a homer with nobody on in the sixth inning for the Expos.

Shula Says He's Ready Even If Stars Aren't

MIAMI (UPI) — Coach Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins will be ready to play in the College All-Star game at Chicago July 26, whether or not the All-Stars are on hand.

The All-Stars voted Monday to refuse to begin practice for the game until National Football League players resume negotiations with striking players.

"We're going to keep on going here and evaluate those in training camp. We'll continue with our training schedule. I have to be prepared in the event everything is settled," Shula said.

Shula announced that two more veteran non-regulars joined the Dolphins' training camp at Biscayne College Monday. He identified the two as wide receiver Charlie Wade, a member of the Miami taxi squad last season as a 17th round draft choice in 1973, and tackle Willie Young, who also was on last season's taxi squad.

It brought to four the number of veterans in camp along with 40 rookies and free agents. Defensive back Henry Stuckey, signed as a free agent in 1972, and running back Tom Smith, a seventh-round draft choice in 1973, crossed the picket line Sunday.

Del Williams of the New Orleans Saints, representing the Players Association in Miami, said, "I am not really surprised at Shula's decision. I think he pretty much has to at this point."

Williams said he thought that if the strike is settled, "The pros could go in and play the All-Star game with only a few days of preparation, but it would take some time for the All-Stars to get ready. I'd say they'd need two weeks at the very least."

He said that unless the AllStars begin practice by next Monday he doubted that they would be able to play the game on schedule.

From the standpoint of the Players Association, Williams said, concerning the All-Star decision, "I think it is the most meaningful thing that has happened to the players so far. I think it is a wise decision that will strengthen the players."

Williams also echoed the statements of Players Association President Bill Curry, of the Houston Oilers, that some of the association's "freedom issues" are negotiable.

"We're not adamant on the exclusive right of a player to veto a trade, the question of fines and curfews," he said.

Doug Swift, the Miami player representative, had harsh words for Dolphins' tight end Jim Mandich, center Jim Langer and linebacker Bob Matheson, who have said they will cross the picket line this weekend, when the regulars are due to report.

"Quite frankly, I feel that people who don't appreciate the union and what it's trying to do for them, shouldn't enjoy any of the benefits. Presumably, those who are putting the union down would be satisfied with no preseason pay, no per diem and no insurance benefits," Swift said.

Warriors To Sign No. 1 Draft

OAKLAND (UPI) — Although it has not been announced formally, Keith Wilkes of UCLA has come to terms with the Golden State Warriors.

Sam Gilbert, the Los Angeles advisor of the 6-7 All America forward who was the Warriors top draft pick, confirmed yesterday that Wilkes and the Warriors had agreed on a multi-year pact.

"There will be a press conference in the Bay Area some time this week," said Gilbert.

Wilkes was overshadowed during his college career by center Bill Walton, but showed that he could take charge when he had to in the Bruins' first meeting against North Carolina State.

Walton was in foul trouble much of that game and it was Wilkes who led the Bruins to victory over the Wolfpack in the game between college basketball's two top teams.

"He can play both ends of the court," said Warriors' Coach Al Attles. "We need that."

"I may not know how to react," quipped Attles. "He would be the first number one I have ever had to coach."

Now the Warriors hope to land second pick Phil Smith of USF and third choice Frank Kendrick of Purdue.

BRITISH OPEN

Nicklaus' Record Makes Him Favorite

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (UPI) — His record this season is spotty and he admits he's having trouble with the "fundamentals" in his game. But ask the bookies who they favor to win this week's British Open and they will give just one name—Jack Nicklaus.

The "Golden Bear" has been installed as a 9-2 choice to take his third open title simply on the basis of his past showings in the championship.

He has won the Open twice (1966 and 1970), finished second three times (1964, 1967 and 1972), third once (1968) and last year came in fourth at Troon, Scotland, with a scorching final round of 65.

But he will have to tighten his game if he is to become the first American professional to win the Open on the windswept Royal Lytham course, a seaside par 71 covering 6,822 yards. And Nicklaus is the first to say so.

"I haven't played all that well," Nicklaus said yesterday after completing a practice round that ended just before heavy rains sent other players scuttling to shelter. "The trouble is that I haven't had the fundamentals right."

His problem, he says, has been his alignment—"It's been too much to the right all season." And the result has been a single win on the U.S. tour at the Hawaiian Open in February.

"But this is a good type course for me," he said. "It favors a left-to-right pattern. I have always been left-to-right, too, but lately it's been a shade too much to the right.

"From a fundamental standpoint I am far sounder than I have been at any time this year. I've been going through a period of not playing or putting well."

Past performances this year meant little to the 7,551 spectators who turned out yesterday to watch the players practice and great swarms of them trooped along behind Nicklaus.

They didn't appreciate the rain, but Nicklaus did. He prefers the course—which features rolling fairways dotted with knobs and knolls that send well-hit tee shots veering right or left into dense rough—well watered.

"This is a great course when it's not too hard or bouncy," he said. "It really needs that rain. But the wind is a factor, too. If the wind blows steadily, there won't be more than four players who will break 300."

Babe Ruth Tourney Is Casualty Of Rain

SANTA ROSA — Freak July rain put a damper on the Babe Ruth District 9 all-star baseball tournament for 14 and 15-year-olds.

Last night's opening games — San Rafael vs. Novato National and Southern Marin American vs. Redwood Empire — were rained out and it is not known whether the field at Doyle Park will be dry enough to permit any games tonight.

Ed Salmina, Babe Ruth district director, said there would be a district meeting tonight in the event today's schedule is postponed to determine how the tourney would be run.

One possibility would be to play day games in addition to the regularly scheduled night games to make up any missed contests caused by the rain. More rain could also force the tournament, involving 12 teams, to be changed from a double-elimination tourney to one of single-elimination.

FISH AND GAME

By Al. GIDDINGS

A Forecast On Preservation

What can we expect in the way of fish and wildlife preservation and enhancement during the last quarter of the 20th century? How will changing conditions affect fishing and hunting opportunities? What is the forecast?

Predictions of this sort are subject, of course, to many unknown factors, some of which could have the effect of changing the baseline from which the projections are made.

The period between now and the year 2,000 will be critical for many species of wildlife. The task of maintaining species now listed as rare or endangered will require the continued intensive effort of all Californians, not just those of us in the business of fish and wildlife conservation.

By the turn of the century, however, the necessary habitat for all species should have been acquired in an effort to preserve all species in perpetuity.

WE EXPECT the quality of the marine environment to improve, and with it the populations of tidal invertebrates to increase. Improved water quality, habitat preservation and enforcement of regulations should help bring these developments about.

This generation will be remembered not only for what it saves of its fish and wildlife resources — as important, even vital, as preservation is — but for what it builds.

Why all the concern for preserving smelly, unsightly tidal marshes that appear to produce nothing but mosquitoes and probably should be filled in so they could be put to proper use?

Well, they provide nursery areas for game fish, serve as wintering grounds for millions of waterfowl, and are home for countless species of birds and mammals.

But this is only the beginning. It is in the marshes that much of life begins. The constant flow of tides washes nutrients back and forth so that billions of tiny plants and animals begin life, grow and are eaten by large organisms, which are in turn eaten by still larger animals. Some migrate into bays and the ocean to form part of the ocean's food chain.

At the same time marshes support a large part of the dry land food chain. Marshes are tremendously productive, manufacturing 10 tons of dry organic material per acre per year. The average wheat field, by contrast, produces only about one and a half tons of grain, straw and roots per acre per year.

Marshes also recycle wastes and convert nutrients. Recent studies show that marshes so effectively recycle nitrogen, phosphorous and sulfur that their value should be computed at thousands of dollars per acre for this reason alone.

AS YOU KNOW, marshland is rapidly disappearing in California and elsewhere. There are only 660 square miles of tidal marsh left in the state. In the San Francisco Bay area alone 80 per cent of the tidal marshes have been filled in during the last century.

The Suisun Marsh in Solano County is the largest such area left in California. Its 80,000 acres represent about 19 per cent of the remaining natural tidal marshes in the state.

An urban development already has been started at Cordelia on the northwest corner of the marsh. On the southeast the county has zoned an area for heavy industry. A proposal for a garbage dump on the north side was defeated only narrowly. Many other proposed developments are in the works.

In an effort to protect the marsh from going the way of most other large marshes, the Department of Fish and Game has proposed that a buffer zone be set up around it.

It is hoped to keep industrial and home building away from the actual border of the marsh because it is known from experience that once development starts on adjacent lands, property values rise, taxes increase and pressures build for involvement of the marshland itself.

The legislature is considering bills designed to accomplish this protection. These and other efforts should be supported.

Tenace lifted a fly to medium left field, but Washington easily beat Lowenstein's erratic throw for a 3-3 tie. Then came the 10th, opened by pinch-hitter Pat Bourque with a walk. John Odom ran for Bourque, went to second on a sacrifice and to third on an infield out. Claudell Washington, a cool youngster who had never seen Perry before, wound it all up by grounding a single to left to score the winning run.

Perry, who hadn't lost a game since the season-opener, put his head down and walked off the field with his second loss in 17 decisions.

"There was no use staying out there," he said. "It was all over with."

The victory enabled the A's to stay 3½ games ahead of Kansas City in the A.L. West while the loss shaved the Indians' East lead over Baltimore to a single game.

The two clubs meet again today —for the last time in Oakland this year —with Jim Hunter pitching for the A's against Steve Arlin.

Busby Is Dull But Efficient

BOSTON (UPI) — It was so efficient, it was almost dull.

Steve Busby, who faced only 30 batters Monday night, fired a three-hitter, as the Kansas City Royals blanked the sagging Boston Red Sox, 5-0.

Busby walked only one and didn't allow a runner past first base for seven innings, retiring the first 11 Boston batters in order. By the time Boston's Dwight Evans doubled in the eighth, the Royals had built up a five-run lead, highlighted by George Brett's second homer of the year and a three-run double by Tony Solaita.

"My control was weak within the strike zone," said Busby, the first man to throw nohitters in each of his first two seasons in the majors. His last was June 18 against Chicago, when he allowed only one walk.

"Fran (Healy) called a great game," he said. "And I got a little irritated in the ninth inning when I walked (Doug) Griffin, but everything worked out fine."

"Steve Busby is the finest young pitcher in baseball," said Royals' manager Jack McKeon. "He's the kind of pitcher that can go out on any night and throw a no-hitter."

Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson also complimented Busby.

"He throws a good fastball and he does it so easy. Busby pitched as good a game as I've seen all year," said Johnson, whose team has now lost six out of its last seven.

Elsewhere in the American League, Gaylord Perry's bid for his 16th straight victory went out the window as the Oakland A's beat Cleveland, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Kansas City blanked Boston 5-0, Minnesota topped Detroit 6-2, New York routed Texas 12-5, Milwaukee edged Chicago 6-5 in 12 innings and Baltimore edged California 6-5.

Twins 6 Tigers 2

Eric Soderholm, Craig Kusick and Steve Brye drove in two runs apiece to back the seven-hit pitching of Bert Blyleven. The Twins gave Blyleven all the support he needed in a fourrun second inning that featured a two-run homer by Soderholm and a run-scoring triple by Kusick.

Yankees 12 Rangers 5

Jim Mason tied a major league record by hitting four doubles to pace a 19-hit New York attack that also included a two-run homer by Bobby Murcer. Roy White also had four hits for the Yankees and Chris Chambliss had a three-run double.

Brewers 6 White Sox 5

Mike Hegan pinch-hit a two-run homer for the victory with one out in the bottom of the 12th inning. The White Sox had gone ahead with one run in the top of the inning on a double by Carlos May and a single by Ken Henderson.

Orioles 6 Angels 5

Baltimore scored five unearned runs in the first inning on two errors, a hit batter and four singles and then held on to hand the Angels their ninth successive loss. California is winless since Dick Williams took over as manager on July 1.

Marshall Gets A Rest As Messersmith Wins

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Andy Messersmith can claim the most specialized role of all in this era of baseball specialization: pitcher in charge of giving Mike Marshall an occasional day off.

Marshall, who had relieved in 17 of the Los Angeles Dodgers' previous 20 games, including a record 13 in a row, dozed in the bullpen last night when Messersmith pitched a three-hitter to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-0 in a nationally-televised game. The win made Messersmith's record 9-2.

"You can't allow yourself to rely on a guy like Marshall," said Messersmith, who has pitched the only two complete games by a Dodger pitcher since June 4. "You've got to try and go all the way—you can't turn it off after the sixth or seventh."

Messersmith, who struck out nine and walked four in pitching his third shutout and lowering his earned run average to 2.01, had a no-hitter until Dave Cash singled with one out in the sixth.

"Davey hit a bad pitch but he's simply a good hitter," Messersmith said with a laugh in the clubhouse. "I thre a no-hitter when I was 11 years old and I've been trying to throw one for the last 17 years without any luck."

Catcher Steve Yeager hit a two-run homer off Ron Schueler in the fourth inning and the Dodgers scored their other runs in the sixth on an infield single by Dave Lopes and a ground ball by Bill Buckner after filling the bases on a hit batsman, a walk and a fielder's choice on which everyone was safe.

The victory was the Dodgers' fourth in their last five games and increased their first-place lead in the National League West to 10½ games.

The Atlanta Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-0, the Houston Astros beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-1, and the New York Mets shaded the San Diego Padres, 2-1.

Braves 5 Pirates 0

Max Leon, a last-minute starter for the injured Ron Reed, pitched a six-hitter for his first victory of the season as the Braves handed the Pirates their second loss in their last 17 home games. Jerry Reuss was victimized by four unearned runs in the fourth inning resulting from errors by Richie Hebner and Willie Stargell. It was Reuss' sixth loss against eight wins.

Astros 4 Cardinals 1

Doug Rader's two-run homer and run-scoring singles by Cesar Cedeno and Lee May enabled the Astros to snap the Cardinals' Lynn McGlothen's five-game winning streak. Tom Griffin yielded nine hits and walked three but went the distance to raise his record to 10-3. McGlothen's mark is 12-4.

Mets 2 Padres 1

Harry Parker and Bob Miller combined on a six-hitter, with Miller pitching his way out of a bases-filled, one-out situation in the ninth, as the Mets stretched the Padres' losing streak to six games. Singles by John Milner and Jerry Grote and Dave Schneck's sacrifice fly drove in the winning run for the Mets. Dave Freisleben was the loser.

Olivares A Slight Favorite

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Slugging Ruben Olivares, facing the biggest test of his "new" career, is a slight favorite tonight to whip Japan's Zensuke Utagawa and become the first ex-bantamweight champ in 34 years to win the featherweight title.

Olivares, who has won five of his six bouts since losing his bantamweight crown in 1972 to Rafael Herrera and turning featherweight, is expected to be a 2-1 choice over the crewcut Utagawa in their scheduled 15-rounder at the Forum by fight time.

Olivares, of Mexico City, and the Tokyo-born Utagawa will be fighting for the World Boxing Association featherweight crown, vacated by the retirement Panama's Ernesto Marcel. Both will be making their first shot at the 126-pound championship.

"I want the satisfaction of having two titles," said the 27-year-old Olivares, who is three years older than Utagawa, a man he describes as not being a very dangerous puncher. "I was a champion once and I want to be one again. I realize I can't blow this opportunity.

"I'm the same fighter I've always been. When I fight a boxer, I go after him."

The kind of fighter Olivares has been is that of being one of boxing's most devastating punchers in history. In earning a 73-4-1 career mark, he has stopped 66 of his opponents without having to go the distance.

Only Rocky Marciano, with 43 in 49 bouts, had KOs more frequently.

How he has changed though is that he has shed his playboy image and, for the first time in his nine-year career, has become a serious trainer.

Minnesota Is Victim Of Gaters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Golden Gaters built up a near insurmountable 19-9 lead after three matches and coasted to a 28-22 victory over Minnesota last night in World Team Tennis play.

The Gaters' top women's singles player, Lesley Hunt, was the star as she took the opener over Mona Schallau of the Buckskins, 6-1, and then joined Ilana Kloss to beat Schallau and Wendy Turnbull, 7-5, in women's doubles.

Dick Bohrnstadt, taking over the Gaters' top men's singles spot for Roy Emerson, bounced Owen Davidson of Minnesota, 6-3. Emerson, player-coach for Golden Gate, will miss most of the rest of the season because of business commitments.

Thus, although Davidson and David Lloyd beat Bohrnstadt and Frew McMillan 7-5 in men's doubles, the five games guaranteed the match for the Gaters, now 10-12 for the season.

In the meaningless final mixed doubles, Lloyd and Kelly Holliday downed the Gaters' Whitney Reed and Denis Triolo 6-4.

Raiders Obtain Leroy Kelley From Browns

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders announced today that they obtained veteran running back Leroy Kelley on waivers from the Cleveland Browns in a national football league deal.

Kelley, 32, a 10-year NFL veteran, is fourth among the league's alltime leading rushers with 7,274 yards in regular season play. He has scored 90 touchdowns during his decade with the Browns and played in the NFL pro bowl game six times.

He currently is the leading active ball carrier in the NFL.

Softball Loop To Be Formed

A meeting to organize a men's summer softball league will be held by the Strawberry Recreation District Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Strawberry Recreation Center.

The proposed league will be open to men 17 years of age and over. Games will be slow-pitch, and will be played at the Strawberry Park in Mill Valley.

Two divisions will be formed if enough teams are formed, district officials said.

Aaron, Bench Lead All-Star Voting

NEW YORK (UPI) — With final returns just a week away, sluggers Hank Aaron and Johnny Bench were virtual shoo-ins Tuesday for starting berths on the National League All-Star team in the July 23 mid-season classic at Pittsburgh.

Aaron will provide Atlanta with its only starter against the American League. The home run king, slated for an outfield berth, has outdistanced all candidates in the fan balloting with 1,561,870 votes.

Bench is the only other player with enough margin to qualify right now. The Cincinnati catcher has drawn 1,507,469 votes. His closest rival is Joe Ferguson of Los Angeles with 366,775.

More Baseball

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Infielder Sandy Alomar, an American League All-Star in 1970, has been sold by the California Angels to the New York Yankees in a straight cash deal.

Alomar, with a .222 batting average in 46 games this year, had been the Angels' regular second baseman last year, but became a utility infielder this season after the acquisition of Danny Doyle from the Philadelphia Phillies.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Buzz Capra, a bullpen pitcher for the New York Mets last year, today was chosen as the National League's "Player of the Month" for June after turning in a 6-0 record for the Atlanta Braves.

Of Capra's six victories in June, four were complete games and three were shutouts. His earned run average for the month was 1.04.

Basketball

NEW YORK (UPI) — The troubled Memphis and Carolina franchises will be the subject of discussion when the trustees of the American Basketball Association meet here July 17.

According to the latest reports, someone has come along with a half million dollar deposit to buy the Carolina franchise and move it to St. Louis or Cincinnnati, while the Tams are expected to remain in Memphis, although a buyer still is being sought.

Tennis

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Top-seeded Victor Amaya was upset last night by unseeded Eduardo Gentil in the first round of the $7,500 Southern Tennis Championships.

Amaya of Holland, Mich., was upset by the Brazilian 6-2, 1-6, 6-4, at the conclusion of the 128 first-round matches in sweltering temperatures.

Gentil played a steady, consistent game against Amaya, who just last Sunday won the National Amateur Clay Court championship in Tennessee and who also holds the Blue-Gray championship title from this spring.

The tournament, in its 89th year, will end Sunday.

Future Unsure For New League

ATLANTA (UPI) — The World Football League, making its debut this week, brings to mind a World War II song:

"Coming in on a wing and a prayer."

The new 12-team league has what amounts, in comparison to the NFL, only a token television pact, and season ticket sales have been far below predictions.

Don't be misled by all those stories about NFL stars who are jumping to the new league. That doesn't happen before 1975, and, in some cases, 1976 — and who can say what the situation will be a year from now.

Chicago, Jacksonville and Southern California appear to be in the best financial shape at the moment. Those three have sold about 18,000 season tickets each —but most of the other clubs haven't come close to that.

The Florida Blazers, a band of gypsies who have moved already from Washington and Norfolk, Va., thought they found a home in Orlando, Fla. But last reports were that the Blazers had sold only 1,500 season tickets.

The Philadelphia Bell will be playing its 10 home games in 90,000-seat John F. Kennedy Stadium and, with only 5,000 season tickets sold, is favored to lead the WFL in empty seats.

The New York Stars have the biggest draw area. But the Stars, who will be competing against the Jets and the Giants, have only a 27,000-seat stadium and have sold barely a third of those seats to season ticket holders.

The general feeling around the league appears to be that the Birmingham (Ala.) Americans have put together the strongest team in the WFL. But, although the Americans are housed in a football hotbed, they've sold only 7,000 season tickets to 70,000-seat Legion Field.

"There are a lot of people in the WFL who are deluding themselves," said a veteran pro football observer. "Money is going to get tight in a hurry, in some cases it already has. Don't be surprised to see some of the franchises collapse midway through the season.

"It takes a lot of money to succeed in pro football. The little bit the WFL teams are getting from independent television is only a drop in the bucket. If ticket sales don't pick up immediately, a lot of the WFL teams are going to be in serious trouble."

Suburban Auto To Host Tourney

Suburban Auto plays host to some of the finest softball teams in Northern California for four days starting Thursday in the third annual San Rafael Fastpitch softball tournament at Albert Park.

Led by Jess Munyon and Dennis Staub, Suburban Auto will open the tourney at 7:30 p.m. against Conner-Coulter of Fairfield, the host team of this year's California State Tournament. Following that game the California Kings from Santa Clara County will meet Artichoke Joe's from South San Francisco.

Friday's games place the Tri-County Merchants from San Juan Bautiste against Channel Lumber of Livermore at 7:30 p.m. and Jim Paige Chevron of Stockton against Alburt's of Alameda in the nitecap.

Finals are set for Sunday at 6:45 p.m.

CAIN'S TIRE IS STILL CUTTING TIRE PRICES

Tire prices are going up like gasoline prices — because tires are 83% petro chemical, therefore costs are up.

On the other hand, automobile production is way down and Detroit is the Tire Industry's biggest customer.

So the tire industry faces higher production cost PLUS lost sales to the Automotive Industry. What all this means is — there are lots of good tire buys for guys who can buy in volume & pay the bill.

Steak And Ale Restaurant To Open In Corte Madera

A Steak And Ale Restaurant, featuring steaks and combinations of steak, lobster and crab, is scheduled to open next February in Corte Madera at the corner of Lucky and Nellen Drives.

Steak And Ale Restaurants of America, headquartered in Dallas, purchased 1.7 acres from Western Real Estate Development Corporation of San Francisco and will build an 8,000-square-foot building between Sizzler Family Steak House and Big 5 Sporting Goods.

Ronald Holt, sales-leasing specialist in the San Jose office of Coldwell Banker Commercial Brokerage Company, announced the sale of the property. Holt said the Steak And Ale Restaurant will have an English pub motif inside, with cocktail lounge, some musical entertainment, and seating for about 250. It will serve lunch and dinner seven days a week.

Steak And Ale has restaurants in San Jose, two in Sacramento, and three in Orange County, and a new one planned in Palo Alto.

FRONTIER SIGNS, a new firm which will create pictorial signs and advertising layouts, will open for business this month in San Rafael.

Proprietor is William G. Grey of Glen Park Avenue, who has about eight years of art experience and has been painting signs for Pay Less Drug Store in Northgate for about two years.

"I plan to use the more creative approach to lettering and sign painting and will highlight pictorial sign work," said Grey.

A 1967 graduate of Terra Linda High School, Grey attended the California College of Arts and Crafts and the San Francisco Art Institute, then did illustration and layout work while serving in the United States Air Force from 1968 to 1970.

AN ITALIAN RESTAURANT featuring Florentine food from Northern Italy is planned for Mill Valley at 425 Miller Avenue, where Aggie's Restaurant is now located, but the change will not take place for several months.

Aggie's Restaurant will be operated by the present owners, Jean D. Slater and Winifred M. Colombo, until Aug. 1, when it will be sold to Hugo E. and Ilse Tapia of Corte Madera.

The Tapias will operate Aggie's as is for several months, then introduce Italian foods such as fettucini and canalloni. They also plan to change the name but have not yet decided what it will be called.

Tapia is of French-Spanish descent born in Chile, where his father was in the wine business. He has worked in restaurants in Europe, South America and San Francisco for about 15 years, the last seven years in San Francisco at Doro's and at Graziano's, formerly Ruggero's. Mrs. Tapia was a secretary in the Finnish consulate in San Francisco for about five years, until last year.

Ms. Slater and Ms. Colombo have operated Aggie's for nine and one-half years. After selling the business, they will continue to live in Bolinas and plan to go into some other business, possibly antiques.

OLIVER REALTY, a new firm handling real estate throughout the county, just opened at 965 Grand Avenue in San Rafael, near Stan's For Sports.

Owner is Richard E. (Dick) Oliver of Tiburon, a retired Army colonel who came out of the service in 1969 and went into the real estate business for a year and a half in Novato, a year in San Rafael, and the last two years as manager of Kay Noah's Tiburon office. Oliver is a member of the Marin County Board of Realtors' Million Dollar Club.

Oliver Realty handles general real estate, mostly residential.

GENERAL AUTO WHOLESALE, which was located in Terra Linda near Shakey's Pizza for three years, has opened in new quarters at 51 Belvedere Street in the canal area of San Rafael near the Sub Hut restaurant.

Owner-operators James E. Harrend of Terra Linda and James B. Johnson of Upper Lucas Valley specialize in wholesale buying and selling of used cars and trucks, both domestic and foreign. General Auto Wholesale is also open for retail sale to the public five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. A warehouse at the new location is capable of storing 30 vehicles.

Harrend has been in the automobile business for 12 years, dealing in Dodge, General Motors and Ford products. He is president of the Terra Linda branch of the Marin County Pop Warner Football League, in which he has been active for three years.

His partner, Johnson, has been in the automobile business in Marin and San Francisco for about 30 years.

RUBINO'S STYLESETTER is the name of a new San Rafael barber shop at 125 Larkspur Street, suite 101, near the Country Club Bowl.

Proprietor is Joseph J. Rubino of Novato, a San Francisco barber for 22 years before moving to San Rafael where he operated Rubino's at 737 Francisco Boulevard for the past five years. In his new location at 125 Larkspur Street, he offers hair styling as well as regular hair cutting. He is open five days a week from Tuesday through Saturday.

STARTING A BUSINESS? A free one-day workshop for persons who have new business firms or intend to start one will be held in San Francisco next Monday by the U.S. Small Business Administration. The workshop will be held in room 13450 of the Federal Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m.

Gilbert Montano, regional director of the U.S. Small Business Administration, said those who plan to attend should register in advance. Items to be discussed include marketing, planning financial needs, insurance risks, legal aspects for starting a business, working with the Internal Revenue Service, record keeping, cash flow crisis and how the Service Corps of Retired Executives can help. SCORE gives advice on starting and running a business.

Pessimism Revealed By Surveys

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The surveys of consumer sentiment suggest that you are mired in pessimism about the economy and entangled in a dilemma over how to handle your personal finances.

You might say it doesn't take a survey to convey this truth to you — that you could pick up the same results in a few minutes at a supermarket checkout counter. Quite likely you are correct.

But it is the professional surveys, by the Survey Research center at the University of Michigan, by Sindlinger & Co. of Swarthmore, Pa., and by The Conference Board which have the wider audience.

The surveys show, among other things, that you the consumer are struggling to make up your mind about whether to remain entrenched, saving what money you can, or to spend now to avoid still higher prices later.

During past periods of consumer pessimism, the Survey Research Center explains, opinions about spending also were unfavorable. People became aware that the rainy day might be just around the corner, and they saved for it.

This behavioral pattern helped explain in part the curious proliferation of bank outlets on almost every corner in some areas of cities while outlets of almost every other sort were complaining about poor business.

As anyone knows who has seen his favorite restaurant dispossessed by another pennant-waving, gift-giving savings bank, that tendency still persists. But it is being offset to some degree by the buy-in-advance psychology.

In May, for example, the Survey Research Center found that 40 per cent of respondents said it was a good time to buy large household goods, while only 22 per cent said it was a poor time to buy.

The percentages do not total 100 per cent because some respondents answered "don't know" and others gave answers that fit neither yes or no categories.

Behind the buy-now thrust is the growing cynicism of many Americans who feel that little economic good can come to them by practicing the old-fashioned virtue of thrift so long as prices continue to rise. And they believe they will rise.

A widespread lack of faith in government combines with the sense of hopelessness about inflation to produce the pessimism that is so commonly reported now by the surveyors.

ALUMINUM FLUME

In the California Mother Lode country, a new idea in flume construction is being tested by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. Aluminum honeycomb sandwich panels, made by Hexcel Corporation of Dublin, Calif., are replacing sections of a seven-mile-long wood flume built around the turn of the century. The flume diverts water from the north fork of the Stanislaus River to a power reservoir. Because of steep terrain, PG&E used a helicopter to bring in the flume sections, each weighing about 650 pounds.

Market Takes Dip In Active Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) — After opening higher in what analysts said was a typical rebound from yesterday's sharp loss, the stock market turned lower today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most analysts said the early rally was a normal rebound and that they were not surprised at its disintegration. Many said they expect the market to continue a downward trend in light of rising interest rates.

The prime rate has been hiked to 12 per cent by most major banks in the nation within the past week. And a Cleveland bank yesterday raised this rate—that charged key corporate customers—to a record 12 ¼ per cent.

Despite the negative news background, trading picked up on the NYSE.

Texaco was the most active issue, off ⅛ at 24 on 160,000 shares. Louisiana-Pacific Corp. was second, off ⅜ at 12 ⅛ on 34,000 shares, including a block of 120,000 shares at 12. American Can followed, off ⅜ at 25 ⅛ on 110,000 shares.

Gold mining issues moved higher as bullion prices advanced on foreign markets. ASA Ltd. gained 1 ⅝, Campbell Red Lake 1 ½ and Homestake Mining 1 ⅛.

Oils were irregular. Getty Oil added 1. Superior Oil fell 3, Schlumberger 1 ⅛.

Other groups were mixed in fractions.

Prices were lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex was the most active issue, up ⅜ at 38 ¾ on 28,900 shares. Banister Continental followed, off ⅛ at 5 ⅞ on 26,300 shares. Imperial Oil A was third, off ¾ at 28 on 19,700 shares.

IRS Could Play Role In Welfare

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Health Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger says he has asked the Internal Revenue Service to consider running a new, streamlined welfare system that would also have elements of tax reform.

After a 30-minute meeting with President Nixon yesterday, Weinberger said they discussed inflation, welfare reform, long range problems in the social security system and college financing for the children of middle class families.

Nixon called inflation "the No. 1 issue before the country today," Weinberger said.

He also said the President expressed concern some welfare recipients may qualify for aid without needing it, while others in real need may not be getting assistance.

Although welfare reform was among the topics discussed, Weinberger did not say he and Nixon specifically discussed the IRS welfare system proposal.

He said the IRS had been asked to consider the feasibility of his proposal, working closely with HEW.

The IRS-administered welfare system "would have aspects of tax reform and welfare replacement to it," Weinberger said. He gave no other details.

He said his welfare reform discussions with Nixon centered on a University of Michigan study, released last week by HEW, which said 45 per cent of the population, 85 million people, had been eligible for various welfare benefits during the last six years.

What interested Nixon so much about this study, he said, was that "a great many people may be eligible for and receiving public assistance from these programs without the need factor being associated with them, while others in need may not be getting assistance."

The programs referred to in the study included a wide range of "income transfer" systems, such as food stamps and unemployment compensation.

Weinberger said Nixon expressed interest in the impact on the social security financial system caused by growing numbers of retirees eligible for increasing levels of benefits.

Car Firm Helps Denture Wearers

LONDON (UPI) — People who have trouble with their false teeth may soon have their problems solved by Rolls-Royce dentures, a report in the British dental journal said.

The report said 100 people who regularly broke their false teeth have had no trouble since being fitted with experimental dentures strengthened with carbon fiber developed by Rolls-Royce for use in jet engines.

"This year let's play down that 'Get out the vote' stuff."

Runaway Toads Sought With Radio Love Call

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — Darwin's radio stations will play the love call of the sugar cane toad in a scheme to capture five of the creatures endangering local animals.

The toads are the last of 18 which escaped from the home of a biology teacher. They feast on insects playing a major role in controlling blow flies harmful to cattle, a major regional industry.

The eight-inch-long creatures also squirt a powerful poison that can kill dogs, cats and pigs.

Although the toads prefer a diet of insects, they are known as "walking vacuum cleaners," capable of eating cigarette butts, table tennis balls and most anything else.

In an attempt to catch the toads, a university professor and officials of the Northern Territory Wildlife Department will comb the suburbs of Darwin playing tape recordings of the toads' mating call.

Similar tapes will be broadcast by radio stations to acquaint Darwinians to the distinctive nighttime call.

Peru Schoolgirls Now Wear Pants

LIMA (UPI) — Schoolgirls went to class in pants yesterday for the first time in the history of Peru.

NATO Hits Netherlands' Forces Plan

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The NATO Council rebuked the Netherlands today for announcing plans to trim its armed forces by one-fifth and said this would seriously weaken the alliance's defenses.

The Dutch government yesterday published defense plans calling for cuts in manpower and equipment in all three services, saying in the future it would put the emphasis on quality rather than quantity.

The Dutch defense plan calls for dissolving four squadrons of Nike missiles and withdrawing 5 of the 11 Dutch Hawk missile units in West Germany. It was submitted to the NATO military committee before being made public. The published version contained some changes sought by the committee.

Military sources said the main effect of the plan would be to cut the strength of the Dutch I Corps—the part of the Dutch army which is made available to NATO—from 91,000 men to 81,000.

If the Dutch defense plan were carried through, Holland eventually would provide 27,100 combat-ready troops in peacetime, compared with its current NATO contribution of 33,700 frontline forces.

Premier Joop den Uyl, presenting the plan to parliament in the form of a "note," said he did not expect it to receive a thunderous ovation from either NATO or his own Labor party.

Members Of Veterans Movement Stage White House Sit-Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Angry members of the Americans Veterans Movement, frustrated by what they said was a lack of official response to their peaceful protests, today staged a sit-down in the White House and attempted to take over the Washington Monument.

A spokesman for the AVM said that four veterans staging the sitdown in the White House were "opening negotiations with (White House Press Secretary Ronald) Ziegler's office" but that the demonstrators would not leave until they had talked with administration officials in charge of veterans affairs.

The Secret Service said none of the White House demonstrators was arrested and "there was no police action."

"We filed a petition with the Supreme Court which was never answered, our peaceful picketing was ignored," the spokesman said. "Now we are taking more drastic action."

Ron Kovic, a national coordinator of the AVM, in a telephone call to UPI, said that another contingent of the veterans had seized the top of the Washington Monument.

But a spokesman for the Park Police said that while it was true about half a dozen veterans were in the Monument building, "the taxpayers still own the Monument."

The AVM spokesman identified the four veterans in the White House sit-down as William Unger, 26, Los Angeles, an ex-Marine and national coordinator of the AVM; Alfredo Cabrera, 26, liaison between the AVM and the National Association for Puerto Rican Civil Rights; Arthur Hurcum, 52, a World War II veteran from Vero Beach, Fla., and John Podgursky, 64, an ex-U.S. Navy man, from Las Vegas, Nev.

Property Owners Seeking Members

The old Tiburon-Lyford's Cove Property Owners Association has begun a month-long membership drive in its area, according to president Elmo L. DeMartini.

The group will meet Aug. 8 at 8 p.m. at city hall to discuss tax assessment increases and to elect new officers.

Off The Cuff Governor Bid

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — State Mines Inspector Harry Springer had a couple of drinks and decided he'd like to be governor.

Springer said yesterday that his job was being abolished in January and he decided to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination "on the spur of the moment" after "having a couple" of drinks.

Asked whether he might change his mind, he said: "I put my money on the line. I'm not playing musical chairs."

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.
